Gen. Neyland, Pigskin Attila

Gen. Richard Reese Neyland, whose Tennessee football team last week caused the folks in old Kentucky, both young and old, to wall up their cabin floors all doubled up with the colic, was himself an athlete fit to have that weary adjective "great" as a prefix to his name.

The General is a Texan, with Greenville, of that state, as his birthplace and Feb. 17, 1892, as the date.

He was a heavyweight boxing champion at West Point for three years. Pitching for that Cadet baseball team, he won 30 and lost five. The first 20 victories were consecutive. He turned down three major league offers, a fact many football coaches today deplore. He was one of the better basketball players and won the letters in that indoor competition.

First Met

It was the fact of his heavy-weight boxing title which first weighed upon my mind. A considerable span of years ago, I recall the year was 1926, I sat moodily on an autumn evening before a typewriter in the sports office of the Knoxville News-Sentinel. I had received word that Mr. Neyland, whose team had lost to Vanderbilt that day, was on the way down with a gale and battery on his mind. He had taken offense at some of my earlier prose.

It was a scene like one of those in the Western pictures, when the bar becomes near deserted as the gun showdown nears. The News-Sentinel staff all departed. None invited me to accompany him or I might have gone along. But they didn't. So, I sat there with a big, old-fashioned clock solemnly tick-tocking away. I kept writing my piece, but looking back across the years I can't believe my heart was in it. The General was a major then. He arrived, just as they said he would. I got up, cursing the fate which had not included a thorough grounding in the martial art of self-defense. There was no fight. We shook hands at the end of a half-hour talk and have been friends since.

At 58 the General is a tall, heavy-framed man whose figure would no longer fit into his cadet uniform, but which yet retains the old athletic imprint. His football success is unique. He is Tennessee football. Until Army orders sent him there in 1923 as an Army engineer, he signed to the rivers and harbors work with the Tennessee and Cumberland Rivers as his department. The University football team had been consistently mediocre. He required about two years to get going, but since 1928 Neyland's teams have been to Southern football about what Attila the Hun was to Europe.

Career

Neyland went from Burleson College in Texas to West Point in 1912. Upon graduation in 1916 with the second lieutenant's commission, he went soon to France. Upon return in 1918 he was assigned to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for engineering instruction, receiving a B. S. degree.

He returned to West Point in 1921 as aide-de-camp to another West Point man who since has done rather well for himself, a fellow named Douglas MacArthur, then commanding at the Point.

Neyland retired from the Army into the Reserve Corps in February, 1936, after 24 years' service. It was a one-year tour of duty in Panama in 1935 which caused him to make the decision. He was called to active service in 1940 and remained with the Army until after the Japanese surrender. He served overseas in China and India, receiving decorations and promotion for his efficient work.

I recall coming out of Chungking in 1945 to Kunming, suffering from heat rash and disease called the Vagabond Rashes. At Kunming Gen. Gilbert X. Cheves helped me back to health and sent a signal to Calcutta and General Neyland that I was on the way. In Calcutta a Jeep met me and took me to the only air-conditioning in that vast city of mighty heat. General Neyland had moved into the British headquarters on replacing them and when the British sent back for their air-conditioning unit the General couldn't hear the messenger and posted a sentry who also was deaf.

That night we went around to a cafe which was run by a White Russian, who once had danced with the old Diaghilev Ballet of Imperial Russia along with Pavlova and Danilova. I brought a note back to the latter.

Neyland returned to active status, a fact which caused dozens of coaches and a million or so Kentuckians to go into mourning. They had hoped he would remain in the Army with the new rank of brigadier.

Connally Hits Bipartisan Cry of GOP

Attacks Critics As Unreasonable

Sen. Connally

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The administration's chief foreign policy spokesman in Congress, Sen. Tom Connally, Texas, accused Republican critics Monday of raising unreasonable complaints in the name of bipartisanship, and he shouted this retort:

"All this talk about 'bipartisanship' and 'you've got to consult the Republicans'—to hell with all that! If a man is an American he ought to stand for an American foreign policy in the interests of the people of the United States!"

An hour or so beforehand, Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, Nebraska, Republican floor leader, had announced he was "going to continue the attack on (Secretary of State Dean) Acheson."

Acheson, Sen. Wherry asserted, had been operating "a one-man foreign policy" that was an "absolute failure," though President Truman himself was ultimately responsible.

At a press conference, as Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Connally had just announced that Acheson would appear Tuesday before the Committee for a review of the whole world position.

Then, the Texan was asked whether this meeting would not give the Republicans "an opportunity for re-examining our foreign policies."

"They've got the opportunity now to re-examine all they want to," Connally cried. "That's all they've been doing."

"All this talk about a 'bipartisan foreign policy' makes me kind of weary. It's not a bipartisan policy that it should be; it should be an American policy."

"We will consult the Republicans, yes. But that doesn't mean that we have got to do just what they tell us to do. We are not going to do any such of an infernal thing."

"We are going to operate not on a Democratic basis and not on a Republican basis but on an American basis that looks after the American people."

"All the questions to date have been settled on a so-called bipartisan basis."

"But the Republicans talk about 're-examination.' Well, if they do they will find their tracks all around them. The Marshall Plan, military aid to Europe—all these things they supported along with us."

"Do they want to go back and undo everything they have joined in doing? I don't think they do."

150 Atlanta Ministers Pledge Support, Unity With Graham

More than 150 Atlanta ministers Monday unanimously authorized a resolution in which they pledged Evangelist Billy Graham their united support and maintained there was "a complete understanding between him and us."

Meeting at the First Baptist Church, the ministers declared they believed Graham "to be God's man for this hour."

The ministers authorized a committee to formulate and release the following statement to the press:

"We regret that Billy Graham's relationship to the pastors of Atlanta has been misrepresented in press and radio reports."

"At a meeting of preachers in St. Mark Methodist Church last Tuesday, Billy Graham spoke openly, fairly and helpfully concerning spiritual needs which ministers have in their own lives. His remarks were made to the public. The evangelist has told the preachers on two different occasions that we would hear no public criticism of ministers. He has kept his word in this. He believes in co-operation and not criticism."

"Just as Billy Graham preaches honestly in a public meeting, so

Lame Ducks Look Limply At Program

5 Requests Labeled Urgent by Truman

By C. P. TRUSSELL
Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The 81st Congress returned Monday for its final "lame duck" session with President Truman calling for action on five measures of "greatest urgency" and on 13 others "if possible" before giving way to the 82nd Congress which convenes Jan. 3.

Mr. Truman put highest priority on these:

1. Supplemental appropriations for the current fiscal year, principally for defense and atomic energy. Unofficial estimates have put the total at least $10,000,000. Official estimates will be submitted by the President this week.

2. Taxes to raise $4,000,000,000 through excess profits imposts. Such legislation is now before the House Ways and Means Committee which seeks to complete its floor action recommendations by next Thursday night. It was indicated in the Senate that an approved House bill must reach it by Dec. 6 if assurance of enactment of any tax bill is to be given. The Congress is expected to shut down finally before the Christmas holidays.

3. Emergency aid to Yugoslavia. A $18,000,000 program of food shipments to avert famine there is under way under existing foreign assistance authority. Legislation to authorize the expansion of the program to an estimated $70,000,000 to $80,000,000 will be outlined later in the week.

4. Extension of rent controls from Dec. 31 to March 31, 1951, as outlined by the President Monday in letters to heads of the Senate and House committees on banking and currency. Mr. Truman asked for a review of the whole rent problem in the light of the defense program. Controversy was developing over the proposed extension.

5. Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. The House has approved statehood for both. The President, in a letter to Vice President Alben W. Barkley, urged completion of action by the Senate. He said the admittance of these territories as states was essential to their welfare and security and to the security of the nation as a whole.

An attempt to make Alaskan statehood the pending business of the Senate was blocked temporarily, but another try will be made Tuesday. Southern Democrats oppose the measures bitterly and indicate they will fight them by filibuster "if necessary."

Basement Fire Mostly Smoke

A fire broke out in the paper storage room in Rich's sub-basement shortly after midnight Tuesday, setting off the sprinkler system and sending Atlanta firemen rushing to the scene.

Employees working in the building knew nothing of the fire until firemen, warned by the automatic alarm, arrived. It was several minutes before the fire was located. The basement was filled with smoke, but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

he was seeking honestly behind closed doors with his brother ministers to speak to them. He said his remarks were "off the record," and they should have been so treated. After his challenging appeal to pastors we knelt in earnest prayer.

"We have found the evangelist most ethical in his relationship with his brethren, and there is complete understanding between him and us. We rejoice to support him, believing him to be God's man for this hour. We are united behind him in the hope that this closing week of the crusade may be marked by the greatest revival our city has known."

UN Links Debates On Korea, Formosa

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 27.—(UP)—The Chinese Communists took seats at the United Nations Security Council for the first time Monday after that group decided, over Russian objections, to lump debate on Korea and Formosa.

Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan joined the 11-nation group at the end of the horseshoe table after a two-and-a-half-hour debate in which Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik tried in vain to limit the agenda to Peking's charges of American "aggression" against Formosa.

Wu was known to have a two-hour speech prepared on his country's charges. And, as soon as he sat down next to India's Sir Benegal Rau, he raised his hand asking to speak.

But Council President Ales Belder, of Yugoslavia, called on American Delegate Warren R. Austin, saying he had put his name at the head of the list. Malik then touched off a new procedural squabble, insisting the complaint had the right to make the first speech.

The Council adjourned at 6:14 until Tuesday morning without solving the issue, and Wu probably will speak sometime during the day.

In the morning, he and his colleagues made their first appearance at a UN meeting when they dramatically entered a session of the General Assembly's main Political Committee—58 minutes late. A Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky was accusing the United States of "aggression" against China.

Wu, however, sat silently through the morning session. The Soviet proposal to limit debate to Formosa was rejected, 7-1, with India, Ecuador and Egypt abstaining. Belder then declared adoption of the coupled agenda: Peking's complaint of U. S. aggression against Formosa and the long-standing Western complaint of Communist aggression against the Republic of Korea.

Vishinsky interrupted his tirade against the U. S. to welcome his Communist colleagues.

The Peking delegation then heard a charge by American Delegate John Foster Dulles that Russia is going all-out to "try to bring the Chinese people to hate and, if possible, to fight the United States."

The Republican foreign policy expert predicted Moscow would fail in its diplomatic maneuvers and said history shows that Russia is the nation that has been traditionally hostile to China.

Vishinsky formally proposed that the Assembly call on the Security Council to order an end to American "aggression" against China.

The procedural snarl in the Security Council was not solved until Tuesday morning.

Condition of Georgia's Highways To Be Aired on WSB Views of News

The poor condition of many of Georgia's roads will be discussed on "Views of the News" Tuesday night at 6:15 over WSB. Constitution Editor Lee Rogers and City Editor Luke Greene will talk about it with Staff Writer Frank Majors, whose first-hand reports have been appearing in a series of articles in The Constitution. Big Red Push Rolls Up Allies

Foes Strike on 75-Mile Front; 110,000 Face Trap in West

TOKYO, Tuesday, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Waves of Chinese Communist infantry smashed Tuesday at the turned right flank of United Nations troops in Northwest Korea. The Reds attacked all along the 75-mile front, forcing new withdrawals.

Elements of the South Korean second corps were surrounded at the crushed right flank.

A U. S. battalion, about 1,000 men, was reported encircled near the center of the front.

Near the front line's left flank, battering Red forces cracked a hole before dawn Tuesday and captured the town of Yongson, east of the Taeryang River. The penetration was achieved against South Korean troops.

More Red troops were moving up to the attack. UN reinforcements were on the way north to the crucial battle zone.

More than 120,000 Communists appeared bent on cutting in behind the UN line on the exposed right and imperiling a UN force of more than 110,000.

The third straight day of Red attacks hit from the western flank of the South Korean 8th Division southeast of Chongju, eastward to the collapsed right flank of the South Korean 8th Division southeast of Tokchon.

South Korean withdrawals in the Tokchon area have exceeded 20 miles since the big Red counter-drive began Saturday. The Red thrust definitely has stalled a UN offensive which opened Friday with the aim of quickly ending the war.

1. South Korean 2nd Corps (6th, 7th and 8th Divisions)—The Red peril posed by collapse of the corps in the Tokchon area increased. That is the mountainous right flank of the line.

Elements of the 2nd Corps were surrounded at Maengsan, 11 miles southeast of fallen Tokchon. The three divisions were trying to regroup along a new defense line below a breached one they had been ordered to hold as a line of "no retreat."

2. U. S. 2nd Division—On the South Korean 2nd Corps' left flank straddling the Chongchon River. At 1 a. m., Tuesday, the Reds heavily attacked the division's right flank near Unbong. That is a 4-mile area organized of Tokchon. The new attack followed others which forced the defending U. S. regiment to withdraw Monday and Monday night. Behind this regiment, a retreating South Korean division was engaged along with reinforcements to hold the flank shoulder.

State Roads Get $9 Million

Georgia's slice of a $400,000,000 Federal loan in aid for road building totals $9,122,633, second highest in the Southeast, Federal Government officials reported Monday in Washington.

Largest share, $9,400,000, was awarded North Carolina.

The Public Roads Bureau, a Commerce Department agency, said the funds must be used by June 30, 1954, and must be matched dollar-for-dollar by State funds.

About 45 percent is to be spent on the Federal-aid highway high-way system, 40 percent on secondary or feeder roads, and 25 percent on urban highways.

Snow Hobbles Big Plants; Storm Death Toll 256

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Big production centers in the Ohio-Pennsylvania area struggled Monday to throw off a straitjacket of snow.

Thousands of strong men—at least 40,000 in Ohio alone—bent to the tremendous task of clearing away snow that had piled up to record depths in some places.

The number of deaths attributed to winds, blizzards and cold rose to 258 in 22 States.

Calculations of the financial cost of the wild weather also were high. Some estimates placed the property loss in the weekend winds that raked the east coast from South Carolina to Maine at $100,000,000.

An insurance executive, Peter Berry, president of the Security Connecticut Companies of New Haven, Conn., said a preliminary survey of the storm havoc in the Middle Atlantic states indicates it will top the losses in the 1938 and 1944 hurricanes. The damage was estimated $110,000,000 in 1944 and at $400,000,000 in 1938.

To the total bill will be added millions yet uncounted in the form of profits and wages lost because plants and stores were closed in many communities.

Fresh snow swirled in Ohio but it was a light fall. An estimated New England states.

City To Get Warmer, Fair Days

The thermometer reading in Atlanta will double Tuesday from an icebox low of 26 to a 52-degree high to usher in two days of fair and warmer weather, according to the Weather Bureau.

Wednesday a still warmer high of 56 is expected after a dip to 34. Fair skies, free of rain or snow, are expected both days.

Monday's 50 prediction fell slightly short of the mark. High was recorded at 47 after a morning low of 30.

Georgians, meanwhile, settled back to survey the damage of the deep freeze that had the State shivering all weekend. Many cars were still on the casualty list with cracked blocks and shattered radiators.

Paul Weir, Manager of the Atlanta Water Department, said nearly a thousand Atlantans were faced with water-line repairs due to bursting pipes. He said a "twist of the wrist" might have saved many people the expense of pipe repairs.

The school system weathered the storm with only four casualties. Pupils at Hoke Smith and Washington High Schools and Grant Park and C. W. Hill Elementary Schools were dismissed Monday because heating systems went on the blink. All other schools, including DeKalb County, operated normally.

Storms Sink Army Goods Off Alaska

12 Barges Lost In Bering Sea

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 27. (AP)—A dozen or more barges carrying millions of dollars worth of cargo for the Military Sea Transport Service have been sunk or lost in Bering Sea winter storms.

One of the vessels is believed to have fallen into Russian hands. The heaviest damage was caused Nov. 10 by gusts up to 85 miles per hour which ripped barges from moorings and separated them from tugs at sea. Native salvage crews are still working to repair gaping hulls driven aground on the barren Arctic coast.

Most of the cargo has been salvaged from an 18,000-ton steel barge driven on the rocks south of Nome. It was battered for days by high seas before salvage crews could be flown to the scene.

News of the disaster first reached here several days ago and was delayed while authorities investigated reports from the remote seacoast villages.

One barge, separated from its tug during a gale, was driven steadily toward the Siberian shore and is believed to have fallen into Russian hands. Its cargo consisted of lumber, construction steel and fuel oil. No secret equipment is believed to have been aboard.

Since early whaling days, navigation on the Bering Sea and the U. S. Coast Guard officially declares the treacherous waters closed to navigation.

Specific dates of ship losses have been withheld by the MSTC for security reasons. All losses apparently occurred since Sept. 15.

flank, a battalion was reported surrounded by Communists at 3 a. m. This was in a sector four miles north of Kujang near the Chongchon River. At 4 a. m., the left flank regiment reported its line was stabilized with slight loss of ground. It did not report that the surrounded battalion had fought its way out.

3. U. S. 25th Division—On the Second's left flank. Employing artillery for the first time, the Communists opened an attack at 1 a. m. all along the 25th's line, which is near the center of the UN Northwest Front.

In the first 30 minutes, 300 Reds penetrated to rear positions of a 25th Division task force six miles south of Sanggu. Sanggu is about 10 miles northwest of the Second's position near Kujang. The attacked task force reported it was "falling back to readjust positions."

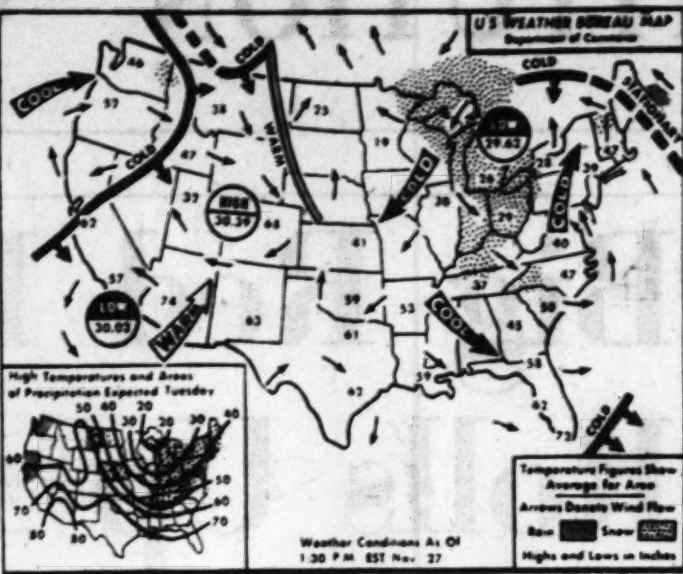

The 25th's left flank north of Yongsan, more than 10 miles southwest of Sanggu, was assaulted at 3 a. m.

4. South Korean First Division—On the U. S. 25th's left flank. Early Tuesday, the Reds broke through the South Korean line and captured Yongsan on the east side of the Taeryang River. At daybreak, the South Koreans counterattacked, seeking to recapture Yongsan.

On the west side of the river and south of Taechon, the Reds probed the 24th Division front and then swung east to hit the South Koreans on the left flank. The South Koreans, which penetrated past Taechon at the outset of the UN offensive, since have fallen back more than 12 miles, retreating five miles in the past 24 hours.

5. The U. S. 24th Division—On the left flank of the UN front. At the outset of the UN offensive it had moved without opposition into Chongju but withdrew from there Monday because of the threat to its right flank.

At 3 a. m. Tuesday, Reds penetrated one Twenty-fourth position. Others infiltrated the left and center. The attack later was stopped. A 24th Division regiment moved toward the road running south from Taechon in a move to support the South Korean 1st Division. This regiment was hit by

THE NATION'S WEATHER—Snow or snow flurries are expected Tuesday from Great Lakes southward to Tennessee Valley and in Nebraska. New England and parts of North Dakota will get similar precipitation. Showers are indicated for North Pacific states and eastern Montana. It will be cooler in northern New England, the northern and central plains and the northwest. It will continue cold in middle Atlantic States and in the Ohio Valley.

8 Convicts Shoot Way To Freedom

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Eight "dangerous" prisoners overpowered two guards and shot their way to freedom Monday night in the biggest mass escape in recent Shelby County penal farm history.

All were white men in their late teens or early 20s. Five had escaped previously this year. A Georgian, James Rape, 20, of Columbus, was listed among the escapees. Prison officials said Rape was committed Oct. 28, 1950, to serve four months for attempting to commit a felony. He escaped Oct. 30 and was given 60 days more for escaping.

Farm Manager Tom Hooker said the men were locked in a screened and barred visitors' room with eight others, waiting to get hair cuts when they rushed the guards.

When the iron gate was unlocked, the eight prisoners who escaped jumped Guards H. B. Calhoun and J. L. Dempsey, took a pistol from one and keys from the other. They slugged the guards and locked them in a cell.

Office Manager H. R. Campbell said the eight other prisoners in the "talker"—prison term for the visitors room or "side lockup"—made no attempt to flee.

Campbell said the ringleader was Norman Eugene Carter, 21, of Rockford, Ill., who was committed Nov. 15 to serve two consecutive sentences of five years for robbery.

Campbell said guards who lived upstairs over the main building heard the commotion aroused by the escaping men and rushed from their quarters with pistols and shotguns.

The fleeing men went out through a back iron gate toward the penal farm kitchen, where they kicked out temporary grill work and moved into the yard. They jumped into a dump truck and headed for freedom, smashing through the main wooden gate surrounding the penal farm entrance.

Pursuing guards fired at the prisoners and the fire was returned, Hooker said. In all, about 25 to 30 shots were exchanged.

All police agencies in nearby areas of Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas were alerted for the fleeing men.

Shovelers Aid Snow-Bound Stork By Tunneling 1,000 Feet to Home

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A shovel brigade brought a snow-bound expectant mother to Mercy Hospital. Thirty-five members of the Greentree Volunteer Fire Company tunneled to the blocked home of Mrs. William Weiland, two miles off Greentree Rd. Two bulldozers scooped off the first mile and a half after a team of horses bogged down in four-foot drifts. Then the shovelers set to work. They dug their way 1,000 feet before two men could buck drifts with a stretcher to carry Mrs. Weiland out. A police car waiting at the end of the two-mile tunnel rushed her to the hospital.

Navy Chief 'Hopeful' of Korea Peace

TOKYO, Tuesday, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews said Tuesday he thought the Korean War could end soon if the Chinese Communists can be made to realize United Nations forces do not want to invade China.

Matthews, who completed a tour of Japan and the Korean battle area, told a press conference the situation in Korea depended on what the Chinese will do. Matthews said he believed the issue of Korea and other world problems could be settled by negotiation, and added he was "hopeful" that they would be.

Roles of Negroes In Health Lauded

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Nov. 27.—(AP). Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Monday night praised the contributions of Negro leaders in the field of health.

O'Connor said in an address before a dinner marking the 10th anniversary of the Tuskegee Infantile Paralysis Center at Tuskegee Institute:

"I feel that the need for greater numbers of Negro men and women in positions of responsibility and leadership is becoming more acute with each day that passes." "As a nation, we cannot continue to squander the abilities of our people without lessening our capacity for world leadership," he said.

SPRY AND MIGHTY POWER PLANT

with a proud pedigree

HERE you behold the up-to-the-minute version of a high-compression engine that has taught a whole industry something about fuel efficiency.

Fact is, Buick pioneered the deep-breathing valve-in-head engine 47 years ago—and thus blazed a trail that aircraft engines—and more recently automobile engines—have followed.

But don't let that ancient lineage fool you.

Today's Buick engine is not simply a valve-in-head. It's a Fireball—which means that it uses fuel-saving, power-peaking principles that are found in no other motorcar on America's highways.

"This is all very well," you say, "but what does it do for me?"

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

Mister, that's what we'd like to show you.

Come settle yourself at the graceful Buick wheel. Gently press the handy gas treadle—and feel this spry and mighty motor come to life.

Then head for the open road, and discover what a whale of a lot of fun it can be to have Fireballs under your hood.

Better come in soon, and get acquainted with the engine—and the automobile—that have won more than 200,000 owners of other cars to 1950 Buicks.

No other motorcar engine can match these features

TURBO-TOPISTON piston heads roll the incoming charge of fuel into a whirling "Fireball"

MICROPOISE BALANCING after assembly keeps Buick engines within 1/4 of an "ounce-inch" of perfect balance

HI-POISED MOUNTINGS cradle the engine for smoother action

CYLINDER BLOCKS are super-precision-bored and double-honed for perfect dimensioning

FLEX-FIT RINGS snug up against cylinder walls, increase oil economy

DUREX BEARINGS provide unsurpassed bearing life

FLITEWEIGHT PISTONS combine lightness with hardness and strength

CYLINDERS are individually cooled to prevent distortion

Personnel Faces Test, Expert Says

Civil Service
Group Warned

More than 600 personnel experts meeting here Monday were told the American merit system faces the "toughest going in its brief and stormy history" during the next few years.

Herbert Emmerich, Director of Public Administration Clearing House in Chicago, told the 1950 conference of the Civil Service Assembly of the U. S. at a luncheon session.

"The paramount consideration from here on, in an era of manpower shortages, will be: How are we going to get the public business done? Civil Service commissions and other public personnel groups will have to be ingenious and inventive."

The World War II Secretary of the War Production Board said the greatest single problem challenging public personnel administrators was "the coming shortage of manpower." He added:

"In the past we have always had more people of all kinds than we have had jobs. Today we are entering on vast undertakings with a scarcity of human resources running all the way from night watchmen to atomic physicists."

"About the only surplus workers we will have will be college professors, who will lose their jobs because of decreasing college enrollments."

As a partial answer to the challenge, Emmerich offered an eight-point program, including provisions for re-employment of men called into the services.

Following the luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel, delegates split into five study groups Monday afternoon to hear technical reports covering work done during the past year. The conference will continue through Thursday.

Du Pont Damage Suit To Get New Trial

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 27.—(P)—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company Monday won a new trial in a case in which Universal Moulded Products Corporation was awarded $561,959.06 damages in Bristol Corporation Court. But the Virginia Supreme Court said the plaintiff was entitled to recovery with the amount of the issue to be settled.

Universal sued Du Pont Company to recover $650,000 damages alleged to have resulted from improper and defective paint materials furnished by Du Pont for use in finishing wood radio cabinets.

North Carolina Solon Given Oath Early

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(P)—Willis B. Smith of North Carolina became a member of the U. S. Senate Monday, two days ahead of schedule.

Under unanimous consent of the Senate, Smith took his oath of office as the Senate convened. He was accompanied to the front of the Senate Chamber by Sen. Hoey, Democrat, North Carolina, and had a big handshake immediately from Vice President Barkley.

Water Tank Blast Injures 2 Children

Accident Laid To Frozen Boiler

Two small Lithia Springs children Monday night underwent treatment in Austell Hospital for severe burns received when a hot water tank burst in their home, while at Piedmont Hospital in Atlanta a two-year-old Macon girl was slated to undergo an operation for a brain tumor or brain abscess.

Seven-year-old Walton Webb was in "critical" condition and three-year-old Michael Webb in "fair" condition from burns suffered during the weekend when a hot water tank, apparently as a result of having been frozen, split open and sprayed them with hot steam.

The boys' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Webb, of near Lithia Springs.

Walton received third degree burns on 45 percent of his body, including back and arms, his mother said. He was given blood plasma provided by the Atlanta Red Cross Blood Center.

Meanwhile, officials at Piedmont Hospital late Monday termed the condition of Starr Lauren Riggs, of Macon, as "critical." The little girl was rushed to Grady Hospital from Macon Sunday by relays of state patrolmen, but she was removed to Piedmont late Monday where physicians diagnosed her ailment as either a brain tumor or brain abscess.

Hospital officials put the child's chance of survival at "about 50-60" as they prepared to operate early Tuesday.

At Grady Hospital Monday, Miss Reba Lee Fuller, 17, of Route 3, Austell, a dental assistant, was treated after she burned her hands and back while warming before a heater, records showed.

Clifford Eugene Alexander, four, of 449 Cooper St., S. W., inserted a piece of apple into the right side of his nose. Joan Annette Atha, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Atha, 722 Windsor St., S. W., swallowed a nickel.

Thomas Beard, 11, of 952 Hall St., S. W., sustained a cut lip as a result of a pedestrian collision. Thomas was running to get out of the cold and ran head-on into another boy. Larry Haynes, 17-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Haynes, 328 East Side Ave., S. E., poked a finger into the family washing machine and required hospital treatment.

A 15-foot fall from a scaffold hospitalized J. B. Byers, 40, of 1278 Caroline St., S. E., for a back injury.

Police Blotter

By KEELER MCCARTNEY

Vice Squad Sgt. L. L. Hause probably has developed into Atlanta's most remarkable "back seat" driver.

Hause occupied the rear seat of a patrol car Monday as Detectives R. A. Boone and N. A. Chastain, who occupied the front seat, noticed a pedestrian lottery suspect. Boone leaped from the police car and gave chase down Peters Street, S. W., on foot. Chastain began driving around the area, hoping to head off the suspect.

At last Chastain discovered Boone leaning against a utility pole, completely exhausted. Boone pointed weakly.

Bible Argument Ends in Death

GRiffin, Nov. 27—(AP)—An argument over the Bible led to the death of one Negro and the jailing of another on a murder charge here.

Police were holding Milledge Evans on a murder charge in connection with the shooting of Louis Morgan with a .38 pistol.

Police said the shooting followed an argument over the Bible.

Third German Election Votes Against Arms

By DREW MIDDLETON

Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

FRANKFORT, Nov. 27—The Social Democratic party won its third and most difficult triumph in the United States zone's state elections Monday when in the last few hours it overhauled an early lead by the Christian Socialist Union and emerged as victor in conservative Bavaria.

This victory, following earlier wins for the Socialists in Hesse and Wurttemberg - Baden, immeasurably strengthened the Socialist opposition in Bonn and promised to delay still further a German decision on this country's contribution to European defense.

The Socialists campaigned on a basis of militant opposition to government proposals for rearmament. Its most effective election poster showed a Nazi surmounting a trench helmet stuck in the torn earth of a battlefield and bore the legend "Never again."

Dr. Kurt Schumacher, leader of the party, declared Monday night that as a result of this victory, the first ever scored by the Socialists in Bavaria, he would continue to press for new nation-wide elections on rearmament.

Final returns for the elections to Bavaria's state legislature Sunday showed that the Socialists won 2,688,680 votes to 2,526,780 for the Christian Socialist Union, the Bavarian branch of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union.

Motorist Found In Coma Here

Ralph Abner Sinkoe, 50, of 1410 Peachtree St., N. E., Atlanta businessman, Monday was admitted to Grady Hospital in serious condition after being discovered unconscious in a parked auto at West Peachtree and Eleventh Streets, police said.

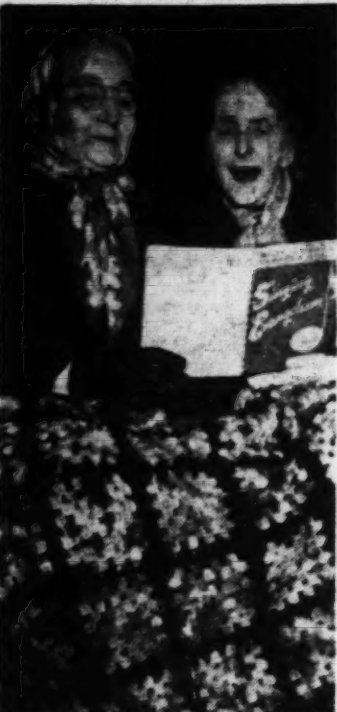

Witnesses told P. C. W. Rogers and G. E. Wallace they observed the auto stop and the driver slump over the steering wheel. They said the motor was racing.

Grady physicians said Sinkoe evidently was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage. He is connected with the Atlanta Fixture and Sales Company.

Wives Should Obey, Graham Tells 11,000

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

Eleven thousand women, huddled under everything from Navajo blankets to old-fashioned afghans for warmth at Ponce de Leon Park Monday night, were admonished by Evangelist Billy Graham to "submit to, subject yourselves, to love, honor, obey and reverence your husbands" or face the penalty of knowing that "God positively will not answer your prayers."

COLD WEATHER, HOT SERMON

While the canvas sides of the big tent flapped in the chill north wind the evangelist handed his "Ladies' Only" audience sizzling advice on preserving or restoring their happy homes.

"Keep your house clean!" shouted Graham, "and don't sweep the dust under the rug, either. Curtail unnecessary expenditures. If some of you died tonight the only thing your husbands would miss would be the bills. Don't gossip; cultivate the art of listening and talk little. And stay at home once in a while!"

The preacher, who spoke to husbands in a Men's Night service last week, told his Monday audience that the Bible unequivocally made the husband the head of the "governmental arrangement" of the home. He said the woman of today owed her place of equality in society to Christian concepts which had rescued her from the role of a beast of burden in Europe and the East but she was still required by Biblical law to obey her husband.

"If your husband is a drunkard and a no-good, if he never goes to church, or if he does go to church and you know that at heart he's a backsliding hypocrite, for goodness' sake don't preach at him," Graham chided the women. "Don't try to cram religion down his throat. More men are kept out of the church that way than ever get in. Lead such a sweet, consecrated life yourself that he'll come around asking you to show him the way."

The evangelist quoted Henry Grady as saying that the center of America was an old-fashioned American home, where family prayer was in progress, and he declared that "Satan's grand strategy to bring down the American home is to break it apart."

He said there are a million divorced people in America, 750,000 children of broken homes and one marriage out of every three and a half ends in divorce today.

"A woman can make or break her husband," he went on, "when your husband comes home tired, run out and give him a big kiss at the door. Dress up a little bit. Keep his love at any cost. Be attractive. No wonder some husbands don't like to come home. Use make-up, if it helps your looks, but don't look like a jeezbebe or a painted clown."

The preacher urged more discipline and less reading of "child psychology books written by old maids" in handling children. He reiterated previous statements that the principal responsibility in spiritual guidance of children should fall on the husband.

The plan will call for employment of 69 additional firemen for the City and the cost will range upward to $215,000 for the fifth year when the new men will reach the top of the pay scale.

Board members also recommended employment of an additional lineman for the signal system after Bill Medlin, signal chief, said although the service boxes have increased from 125 to 412 in the past 25 years, no additional men have been employed for that work.

R. A. Harris, of Station No. 14, resigned to accept another job.

7th Fugitive Listed in Cobb

MARIETTA, Nov. 27—The seventh prisoner in two months to escape Cobb County's prison farm walked off a road job where he was working as a trusty late Monday.

The prisoner was identified as Marvin L. Bruce, 18, serving four years of from one to four years each on counts of robbery.

Bruce was working as a trusty in the garage. He had served 10 months of his four sentences and would have been eligible for parole in another two months.

Three of five Negroes who escaped under fire over a month ago are also still at large from Cobb County prison and a trusty cook who walked away from the farm a week ago is still free.

Burglars Get $365

Burglars raided two business establishments for a haul of $365, police records showed Monday.

A strong box was rifled of $145 at the O. K. Storage and Transfer Co., 521 Peachtree St., N. E., police said. Taken from a strong box at the Adams Service Station, 506 Moreland Ave., S. E., was $200.

Reds Denied Appeal Time Extension

Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—Postponement of arguments on the appeal of the 11 convicted Communist leaders beyond next Monday was refused by the Supreme Court Monday but the tribunal gave permission for a British lawyer to aid the defendants in the hearing.

Appearance of D. N. Pritt, the English counsel, is, however, utterly unexpected. As forecast by the Communist leaders, he said Monday he is leaving London for an engagement in India.

When the defendants on Nov. 17 asked for his participation, they said this would depend upon delaying the arguments until Jan. 22. Their choice of Pritt, a "leftwinger," came, they said, after two dozen American attorneys declined to help them.

When the Supreme Court, on Oct. 23, granted the Communists' petition for review of their convictions in New York, the date of Dec. 4 was set for the arguments, and this will be adhered to under Monday's order.

Affirming this date, the court agreed to let the defendants have two hours for arguments, split between three of their lawyers.

The significance with which the Government regards the Communist case was illustrated by information that Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath probably will appear in the arguments in addition to Sol. Gen. Philip B. Perlman.

Earl Browder Is Indicted For Contempt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Earl Browder, long the voice of American Communism, was indicted Monday for contempt of Congress.

So were two other witnesses who refused to answer all questions during a Senate Communist-in-Government investigation—Frederick Vanderbilt Field, New York millionaire, and Philip J. Jaffe, editor of the defunct magazine Amerasia.

The same Federal Grand Jury also voted contempt of Congress charges against Dr. Edward A. Rumely and two others who refused to provide information demanded by a House Lobby Investigating Committee.

Named along with Rumely, Executive Secretary of the Committee for Constitutional Government, were Joseph P. Kamp, Executive Vice Chairman of the Constitutional Educational League, and William L. Patterson, Executive Secretary of the Civil Rights Congress.

The indictment against Browder official Communist spokesman in this country for 15 years until his ouster early in 1946, contained 16 counts; that against Jaffe, 26 counts, and the one against Field 32 counts.

Maximum penalty for contempt of Congress is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine on each count.

The indictment against Rumely listed eight allegedly contemptuous refusals to provide information demanded by the House Lobby Investigating Committee.

Browder, Field and Jaffe appeared as witnesses during a Senate Foreign Affairs Subcommittee inquiry into Communist-in-Government charges by Senator McCarthy, Republican, Wisconsin.

The eight charges against Rumely grew out of his refusal to tell the Lobby Investigating Committee about the publishing activities of the Committee for Constitutional Government.

Poteat Urges Shrine Motto To Fight Evil

"Strength and Fury" must be used to oppose evil and uphold good citizenship, "Dr. Hubert M. Poteat, new Imperial Potentate, told more than 1,000 Atlanta Shriners and guests at the Municipal Auditorium Monday night.

Using a Shrine motto as his subject, the Wake Forest, N. C., Latin professor called upon Shriners "to be ready to strike down the enemy of your God—Communism."

He said the "poisonous weed" of Communism grew from the seed of poverty and ignorance.

Citing lack of interest in public affairs of many Americans, the Shrine leader said citizens of this country "might well take a leaf from the book of the Communist, who believes he's going somewhere and works hard to get there."

Dr. Poteat warned that "many a powerful nation has gone down, not from outside forces, but because of indifference within."

He was introduced by Thomas C. Law, of Atlanta, former Imperial Potentate, and was later given a gift from the Yaarab Temple.

THANK YOU . . . EVERYBODY

WE WISH to express our deep appreciation to our customers, the radio stations and the press for their magnificent response to our call for assistance in the emergency Saturday, resulting from the record cold weather.

In mid-afternoon a critical situation was developing on the pipe line system of our supplier, and the weather outlook was for still lower temperatures in this area. Your help was urgently needed. This help you gave—we know at personal inconveniences—by the many ways you helped save gas.

Etna's Lava Hits Town; 3,000 Flee

Second Village Is Threatened

CATANIA, Sicily, Nov. 27.—(INS)—A seething stream of white-hot volcanic lava from erupting Mount Etna began pouring into one abandoned Sicilian town and menaced another in its path Monday night.

Evacuated peasants prayed in fear by fields for deliverance. One of seven tentacles of incandescent molten rock, bursting with new violence from nearly a dozen vents in Etna's cone, struck the town of Milo. Another lava stream moved relentlessly toward the village of Fornazzo.

Hundreds of donkey and ox carts evacuated 3,000 peasants from Milo, Fornazzo and Rinazzo. The threat to Rinazzo was lifted temporarily when one of the molten streams suddenly changed course when it hit a ravine.

The evacuees lit huge bonfires in the fields outside their towns where they prepared to spend the night. Priests led them in mass prayers for an end to the holocaust of flame and ashes.

The lava stream rolled down the mountain at the rate of 250 yards an hour.

One Killed, 41 Injured In State Army Mishaps

Railroad and truck collisions killed one soldier and injured 41 other persons, most of them soldiers, in Georgia Monday, while four persons were hurt here in automobile accidents.

A Fort Benning soldier was killed and 21 others injured, at least one critically, Monday afternoon when an Army truck crashed into the rear of another Army truck near the Harmony Church Area of the fort.

Identities of casualties were not announced, but Maj. W. H. Burr, Benning Public Information Officer, said all were believed to be members of Company F, Second Battalion, 325th Airborne Infantry Regiment.

Maj. Burr said the fatal accident occurred when the truck carrying 22 men passed a civilian automobile parked on a curb and ran into the rear of the second vehicle, which was moving slower.

Earlier Monday, 14 draftees and recruits traveling to Camp Rucker, Ala., suffered minor injuries when a troop train collided head-on with a freight train at Screven, in Southeast Georgia. Six trainmen also were hurt.

Three cars of the troop train were from Fort Devens, Mass., and six were from Fort Meade, Md. The Army said 215 men were aboard.

In Atlanta, two persons were slightly hurt in a crash at Lynford and Wyland Roads, S. W. Ptl. J. C. Hopkins and R. H. Anderson said a coupe driven east on Lynford by W. N. Humphries, 24, of 2151 Bolton Rd., collided with another operated north on Wyland by John A. Betjeman, 33, of 1330 Elwood Dr., S. W. Both received minor injuries, patrolmen said.

U. S. Forbids Czech Planes Over Zone

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 27.—(UPI)—The United States banned some Czechoslovak airline flights over the American zone of Germany Monday and restricted others as a reprisal for "disgraceful" violation of air regulations.

Flights to Zurich, Switzerland, and Rome over the American zone were barred outright. Flights to London, Brussels and Amsterdam were restricted.

The stern action was taken on the ground that Czechoslovak planes deliberately violated air regulations by flying delegates to a Communist-sponsored "peace congress" from England to Warsaw, Poland, over the American occupation zone without notification.

An American note delivered to the Czechoslovak Foreign Ministry here and to Czechoslovak representatives in Frankfurt, Germany, said:

"Unless an immediate reply is forthcoming explaining to the satisfaction of the U. S. High Commissioner for Germany the reasons for this disgraceful flouting of accepted international practices, which are well known to the Czech government, it may be necessary to take more stringent measures to assure the protection of the air space over the U. S. zone of Germany."

The American note announced the outright banning of the present three-times-a-week Czech airline flights to Zurich and Rome. The daily service to London was restricted to six flights a week. The three-times-a-week flights to Brussels and Amsterdam were restricted to two a week.

The American note said that Czech planes violated regulations by making at least 30 unauthorized flights over the American zone on Nov. 14, 15 and 16 and delegates to the Leftist congress.

Home Town Third Place To Sylvania

SYLVANIA, Nov. 27.—Sylvania shoved its chest proudly forward Monday, and in its hand was placed $500 and a bronze plaque for being judged third-place winner in the 1950 Champion Home Town Contest with towns of 1,000 to 5,000 population.

This progressive town of 2,936 modern-minded citizens doesn't give any competitor a chance for beating it in 1951. Sylvania plans to be way out front.

"We consider ourselves already in the 1951 contest," said Norman F. Chalker, general chairman of the contest and editor of the Sylvania Telephone. "With the know-how gained within the past two years, I think our chances are excellent."

Awards were made Monday night at a banquet in the Community House by Robert Wardle, Jr., manager of the Community Development Division of the Georgia Power Company, which sponsors the contest. He praised the progress made here and looks forward to the opportunity to present another prize soon, he said.

Accepting the awards on behalf of Sylvania's "industrious citizens," Chalker expressed appreciation for the chance offered by the Georgia Power Company and urged that still longer strides be taken within the next year.

"BC" Headache Tablets ... Now Nation-Wide Success

In 1947 the makers of "BC"—America's fastest-selling headache powder—introduced "BC" Headache Tablets. Dealers throughout the nation immediately expressed their enthusiastic approval. What everyone wanted to know, though, was what you people, who have the headaches, would have to say. You have spoken, and what you have had to say isn't any secret. The quick-dissolving, fast-acting "BC" Headache Tablets are a nation-wide success. Yes, "BC" Headache Tablets are "a hit." And the old-time favorite

HEALTH EXPERT'S REPORT

Indochina Harassed By Reds, Lyman Says

By KATHERINE BARNWELL
An Atlanta public health specialist just returned from Indochina reported that Communist-led guerrillas were waging a "war of harassment" thereby blowing up railroads, digging up roads and tossing hand grenades at government officials.

Dr. F. Earle Lyman, entomologist with the Communicable Disease Center, U. S. Public Health Service, who spent three months in Indochina as a malaria control consultant, summed up:

"The whole country is in a state of turmoil and confusion." Dr. Lyman, who had an armed guard wherever he traveled, said he did not see any actual fighting but heard cannon shots at night and saw some of the villages literally destroyed by guerrillas.

He explained there was no organized battle lines but that laborers by day "might be guerrilla fighters at night."

Dr. Lyman was working in Vietnam—one of the three countries which make up Indochina. He explained the native Vietnamese government headed by Bao Dai was sponsored by the French, who are in control of the country's money, transportation, communications and military.

Opposed to the Vietnam government, Dr. Lyman pointed out, is the Vietnamese government led by Communist Ho Chi Minh. He said many non-Communists also sided with the Vietnamese "because they don't like the French."

Dr. Lyman said the greatest wish of the Vietnamese people was complete independence from the French. He said if some date were set for their independence, he believed many natives who had joined the Communists would back the non-Communist Vietnam government. He opined that some of the natives accepted Communism without knowing what it is "because they can't stand the French."

The Atlantic said the natives were "very friendly" toward Americans and welcomed United States aid in the expansion of their limited public health program.

As malaria consultant, Dr. Lyman along with other American health officials trained native malaria spray crews who sprayed thousands of dwellings with DDT in an effort to eliminate malaria-carrying mosquitoes. The Americans also arranged the mass distribution of chloroquin tablets for the prevention and treatment of malaria.

Dr. Lyman said disease was rampant in Indochina chiefly because of bad sanitation. He added that conditions had improved some as a result of American efforts there.

Dr. Lyman was one of a team of five health experts sent to the Hanoi and Saigon regions of Indochina as part of the ECA program of special assistance in Southeast Asia.

Dr. Harry Pratt, another Atlantan who was with the Communicable Disease Center here, still is assisting with malaria control in Indochina, Dr. Lyman said.

Hotel Unit Burns At Ponte Vedra

PONTE VEDRA BEACH, Fla., Nov. 27—(INS)—A fire which broke out in the kitchen or boiler room of the swank Innlet Hotel in Ponte Vedra Beach leveled the apartment hotel's main building in only two hours Monday.

No one was injured but owner Frank Rogers estimated the loss at $50,000.

Most of the hotel tenants have apartments in other buildings of the horseshoe-shaped exclusive apartment hotel and were not seriously threatened by the blaze.

Anderson Asks Air Force for Retirement

Special to The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—Maj. Gen. Orvil A. Anderson, who was recently removed as head of the Air Force's Air War College for publicly advocating "preventive war," has applied for retirement. The veteran airman had been reassigned from his post as commander of the Air War College at Montgomery, Ala., to Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas, but had not taken over his new command.

Gen. Anderson was summarily suspended Sept. 1 by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff, after the former commander was widely quoted as having said that if he were ordered he could "break up Russia's five A-bomb nests in a week." The incident caused considerable consternation at both the Department of Defense and State and officials of both departments denied that Gen. Anderson's statement reflected policy. The application for retirement was confirmed Monday by an Air Force spokesman.

Truman Saves Negro Officer, Orders 20 Years at Labor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(INS)—President Truman Monday spared 1st Lt. Leon A. Gilbert from a court-martial death sentence but ordered the York, Pa., Negro to serve 20 years at hard labor.

The presidential commutation of sentence in the controversial case was announced by the Defense Department.

The death sentence was passed on Gilbert by an Army court in the Far East which found him guilty of refusing to obey an order to advance "before the enemy."

The findings were reviewed in Washington by the Army Judge Advocate General's Office.

President Truman ordered that the veteran of 10 years be dismissed from the Army and that all pay and allowances be forfeited, in addition to the penitentiary sentence.

An appeal to the President was made by Gilbert's wife on grounds that the Negro troop commander of sentence in the controversial case was "mentally irresponsible" at the time of the incident and that he was tried and sentenced by an all-white court-martial panel.

The incident occurred July 31 on the Korean front where Gilbert was in command of Company A of the Twenty-fourth Infantry Regiment of the Twenty-fifth Division and was ordered to attack.

Gilbert was charged with "misbehaving himself before the enemy" by refusing to advance with his command when it was ordered to advance.

In his trial defense, Gilbert asserted the advance would have meant certain death for himself and his men and that action would have been militarily useless.

Mrs. Arthur Heber, 4308 Hays Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio, is a busy little bee these days—she scurries around her kitchen cooking a hearty meal for that husband of hers; you ought to see her finish off the family laundry in just a mite of time. She is a bundle of energy these days and she wants everybody to share her secret of happiness. She found that by taking HADACOL her system gets those necessary Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin that it at one time lacked.

Mrs. Heber, who had been nervous for some time, said: "After I got on my feet I was still unable to eat anything. I knew my not being able to eat or digest my food properly was a result of a nervous condition. Then my husband heard how other folks were being helped by HADACOL. I started taking HADACOL immediately. Now I am on my seventh bottle of HADACOL. I can eat anything I want and actually enjoy it. My nerves are very steady and I know my nerves are all right because things that once irritated me don't bother me in the least now. I just can't thank HADACOL for making me feel so wonderful again."

You, Too, Will Be Pleased
at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring to your life if you lack those necessary Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron elements that are so wonderful for indigestion, stomach disturbance (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), that general run-down condition, and nagging aches and pains, when caused by lack of these precious Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron.

HADACOL is so successful because it acts directly to relieve the cause of your trouble when due to such deficiencies. That's the kind of product you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

There is Only One HADACOL
Don't go through life suffering with a distraught stomach, nagging aches and pains, when relief may be as close as your nearest drugstore, if your system lacks B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron. County Lines Disrupt State-Paved Highways

By FRANK MAJORS

The surfaced portion of Georgia Highway 54 ends abruptly at a narrow, bumpy, dirt side road, some four-tenths of a mile short of a junction with the concrete U. S. Highway 27A and Georgia 41.

The surprise ending is a monument to the apparent reluctance of many State highway administrations to cross county lines with single road projects.

The paved part of Georgia 54 ends as it leaves Coweta County, home county of former Gov. Ellis Arnall. The tortuous, clay trail completing the junction with U. S. 27A lies altogether in Meriwether County.

This is another in a series of articles about Georgia Highways.

New highway maps err in showing the route as surfaced all the way to Luthersville.

Only a comparatively small outlay would have been needed to complete the stretch a few years ago when the remainder of the project was let. As it is now, the road is surfaced its 60-mile length from Atlanta to Luthersville, except for this last short section.

It is this last unpaved section that forces motorists to make a sharp right turn at a dead end, negotiate a hazardous railroad crossing, and cautiously creep onto the nearby Federal highway.

Despite its secondary classification, Georgia 54 is heavily traveled from Fayetteville to Sharpsburg, that a rough, bumpy bridge crossing injured several Georgia Tech freshmen en route to a football game with Auburn by special bus. The men were thrown from their seats.

The road ending phenomena is unusual in Georgia only because it is one of the more graphic illustrations of county-to-county construction which permits roads to end unexpectedly in every section.

Only recently have highway officials shown a willingness to ask bids on construction projects which included two or sometimes three counties.

Pre-Divorce Settlement Tax Free

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—A pre-divorce property settlement between husband and wife is not subject to Federal gift taxes, the Supreme Court held Monday in a 5 to 4 opinion.

The case involved the Government's efforts to collect $28,500 because the late Cornelia Harris of New York City gave her husband property worth $107,150 more than he gave her before they obtained a Reno divorce in 1942.

Justice Douglas wrote the majority opinion in which he was joined by Chief Justices Vinson and Justices Reed, Jackson and Clark. Justice Frankfurter wrote a dissent, joined by Justice Black, Burton and Minton.

The majority likened such property transfers between husband and wife to a business transaction when two partners dissolve their firm.

Douglas wrote that in the absence of a law which brings all marital property settlements under the gift tax, "no reason is apparent why husband and wife should be under a heavier handicap than a business concern."

UNDER THE DOMENo Boost In Cotton Seen in '51

By HOKE SMITH MAY

Lifting of Federal acreage controls on cotton apparently is not going to increase greatly the size of Georgia's 1951 crop, Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder said Monday.

The Agriculture Department chieftain said Georgia farmers with whom he had talked during the past few weeks were not planning to expand their acreage next year.

Linder said most farmers felt the present market price on cotton did not warrant increasing the crop.

"They feel that it's just not worth planting more cotton to sell at 40 cents a pound," Linder said. "Forty-cent cotton is forty-cent cotton and it isn't worth as much as it was several years ago. Farmers want to invest their money where they can get the greatest return."

Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan lifted controls on cotton recently in an effort to increase the size of the 1951 crop.

Georgia cotton farmers planted 1,151,000 acres this year. The estimated production on Nov. 1 was 510,000 bales.

Liquor Seized

State Agents have seized 200 cases of liquor bearing counterfeit State tax stamps at the County Line Store in Lowndes County, Revenue Commissioner Charles Redwine reported Monday.

Redwine said Fulton County Crime Laboratory Director Dr. Herman Jones is inspecting another 200 cases at the store in search of counterfeit stamps.

The operator of the store, Raymond Taylor, is being summoned to Atlanta for a hearing, Redwine said. The Commissioner added that revenue agents were checking reports Taylor was receiving liquor with counterfeit stamps from Louisiana and distributing it in large quantities in dry counties.

Befuddling Ballot

The Georgia Association of County Commissioners is drafting a bill for presentation to the General Assembly to "alleviate the monstrous and befuddling type of ballot" which confronted voters in the general election.

A committee appointed by the Association's Board of Managers recommended a constitutional amendment be adopted giving the Legislature blanket authority to pass local legislation in designated fields provided voters in the county affected hold a referendum on the proposed changes. Air Force has reversed its former "dependent" barrier to potential enlistees, it was announced Monday.

According to new regulations, Air Force male applicants, including those with prior service in the Army, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, may enlist in the Air Force regardless of whether they have dependents.

Enlistees must be eligible to hold at least a rank of E-4, which is the same as sergeant. Only exemptions are:

1. Male applicants from civilian life may be enlisted in rank of private, Pfc. or Cpl. if they have only two dependents.

2. Airmen currently serving, including reservists on extended active duty re-enlisting immediately, may be enlisted without regard to number of dependents.

BISHER

Of Eskimos, Talboom, Suffridge and Texas

That Eskimo pitcher of Earl Mann's could get some steady employment about this time. That's just what you need for an apt passing game in this weather—an Eskimo thrower. . . . Down in Texas, where they claim everything's bigger and better and tustest, they've got the evidence this week. Makes them cowpunchers look pretty smart, lassoing Tennessee two days before they beat the conference champion.

Bowden, an All-American end for Bob Neyland about 10 years ago, came riding in from Wyoming without any apologies for his geographical isolation and rightly proud of his crop of victories. "My boy Eddie Talboom," he said, "is the greatest back I ever saw. . . . We are not taking the first bowl we can get. We're holding out for big game." . . . An old chum, All-American Bob Suffridge, was reporting how he'd been defeated for sheriff of Knox County by only 550 votes, "and I didn't even have a blocking machine on my side."

There seems to be some disagreement over Denny Myers' plight at Boston College. A wire story reported that "even his worst enemies admitted he didn't have the material." . . . Couple of Down East coaches seen around lately claimed he had the best material in the East, sparing Army. . . . A New York coach, Moon Mondschheim of CCNY, has come up with a football equalizer. Moon, one-time national decathlon notable, suggests that each time a team scores a touchdown, the other team be allowed to add a player to its lineup. One touchdown against you gives you 12 players, and so on. . . . That might work a hardship on a school like Davidson, where the student body is as limited as the defense.

Of Phi Beta Kappas and Evil-Eye

University of Texas has come up with its first Phi Beta Kappa football player in 20 years, and Ben Proctor. The last one, Bull Elkins, became president of Texas Western College. . . . Stand by Georgia. You're about to meet another Tidwell. This one is Billy, plays halfback for Texas A&M. . . . Have you ever heard of a guy getting whammy by mail? Well, I got it Monday from Evil-Eye Finkle. Wicked Orb and his fraternity brother, Mumbler Sam Sobel, are wintering in Miami.

Heard the other day that Bear Wolf might get the Virginia Tech job. Sounds like a grand place for security. Those people he'd Bob McNeish to stay even after three seasons with two victories. . . . Busiest fisherman of the season: Dixie Walker. At one and the same time he was reported casting about in St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Brooklyn and the waters of the Warrior River. . . . Washington sports writers were hoping the Redskins might lose to Baltimore Sunday, with a purpose, naturally. They could have wound up last and come up with first draft choice. They had Bob Williams or Kyle Rote in mind.

Jim Tatum considers his shotgun guard, Bob Ward, the greatest football player he ever coached. "He's the only man I ever saw who never had a bad day." . . . A sight I'd like to see: Babe Parilli driving the Georgia football T. . . . When you pass back over the year, I don't believe you could come on a bigger upset than Citadel 19, South Carolina 7.

Tommy Henrich, who told George Weiss he wanted no part of managing Kansas City, probably will have to take a 50 per cent salary cut to get his one more chance as a Yankee player. . . . The Army has come to Dick Weik, Joe Engel's ex-Chattanooga wild man, now owned by Cleveland. . . . Perhaps the best baseball prospect in the SEC is Bert Rechichar, the Tennessee cat who caught the winning pass against Kentucky. Pittsburgh offered him as much as $15,000 before he came to college.

Of Casualties, Salem and Howard

Handsome casualty list in the SEC is Auburn's. Eighteen Tigers have been lost for one reason or another. Pipe this, sir: Ends Ed Deupree and Bob Crump, Tackle Mort Vaserberg and Guard Jim Brooks, scholastic troubles; End Jimmy Cline and Guard Frank Jones, knee injuries; Tackle Bobby Weaver, low blood sugar; Tackle John Brillovich, family troubles; Guard Virgil Hughes and Back John Gibson, drafted; Guard Dan Mantrone and Center Ralph Pyburn, took coaching jobs; Center Tom Page, bad shoulder; Backs Dick Flournoy, broken hand; Allan Parks, broken leg; Al Woodham, quit; Fred Halbig, operation; Bobby Briggs, dismissed, and Don Phillips, married and quit.

They should add the position, Left Out, to the All-America team and award it to Eddie Salem. Hardly ever will you find a boy who can do so many things brilliantly passed over as I fear he is about to be. . . . One wire service left him off its All-American defense team, whose backfield included such as Bobby Reynolds, of Nebraska, who doesn't play defense. . . . Bob Hardeman, a student of Georgia football, writes in suggesting that a place be made on the Bulldogs' all-time team for Joe Geri. My idea of the coach of the year: Frank Howard at Clemson. . . . Johnny Papit, of Virginia, has become the first college back who ever averaged 1,000 rushing yards a year through his career. . . . Whatever became of the campaigns to switch Little Rock and Mobile off the Southern Association tracks?

Dixie Walker Returns As Cracker Manager

Signs 1-Year Pact; Wyatt To Sign Later

By JESSE OUTLAR
Dixie Walker, hailed as the future manager of at least three major league clubs in a wild flurry of Fall rumors, Monday signed a one-year contract to manage the Atlanta Crackers again in 1951.

Cracker Pres. Earl Mann, in making the announcement, said Walker requested a one-year pact, but he can pilot Atlanta as long as he likes.

Walker, named manager of the year when he guided a team stamped for the second division to the 1950 Southern Association pennant, was eager to start mapping plans for the coming season.

"I don't predict another pennant, but we'll have a hustling team which will be shooting for the flag every year. As I've said previously, I'd rather stay in Atlanta than with any other minor league city."

Of course, Dixie's return means that Coach Whit Wyatt will be back for another season. Wyatt, a genius with young pitchers, will sign a contract at a later date.

Whit was the winning pitcher when the Crackers defeated the league All-Stars and was as popular with fans as any player on the club.

There's still a faint possibility that Walker may be named manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, but Dixie considers himself a real longshot. "Stories about me being a prominent candidate for the Brooklyn and Pittsburgh jobs had no official sanction as far as I know, for neither club contacted me," he said.

Mann stressed the fact that he would erase Dixie's name from the Cracker contract provided a major league opportunity bobbed up.

Mann and Walker will attend the Winter League meeting in St. Petersburg next week, hoping to swing deals which will strengthen the club. Of course, most of the aid will come from the Boston Braves who planted such promising prospects as Third Baseman Ed Muehle and Pitcher Charlie Gorin here last season.

The coming season marks Walker's 24th year in baseball and his second as a manager.

He will be a playing pilot only in case of an emergency. However, Dixie looks as if he could step back in the lineup without any trouble. At 40, he still weighs 175, his playing weight when he gained fame with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

British Golfer Dies

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—James Braid, grand old man of British golf and five times British Open champion, died at a London nursing home Monday.

Although he was 80 years old, he had been active as a professional at the suburban Walton Heath Club until a few months ago.

SEC TEAM OF WEEK

The General Can Cry, But Vols Still Rank High

Who else but Tennessee? Before the season started, Gen. Bob Neyland protested daily but futilely against rating systems and individuals who placed his team high on the national ladder. He was, to the naked eye, most sincere.

He will not win the conference championship. He may not be ranked third, as Fred Russell placed him nationally in his annual magazine piece. But he and his Vols did the job of the year against Kentucky. If they take Vanderbilt Saturday, they probably will wind up among the first five, if not third.

Offhand, you can only accuse Army, Oklahoma, Texas or Princeton of standing a chance to stand ahead.

In the conference, Tennessee probably ranks in the coaches' minds as no better than Alabama and Tulane, the come-latelies who couldn't get over a case of stage fright.

Actually, you can't have Kentucky very far behind, particularly when you consider just how close the Vols came to missing their payoff Saturday. First, a loose ball was recovered setting it up.

On first down, Herky Payne got 12 yards. Bert Rechichar lost one. Payne got six more. Then Andy Knox fumbled. Kentucky fumbled his fumble and a near-unknown junior named Don Bordinger finally covered the greased pigskin on Kentucky's 22. This made it fourth down and nine to go as Hank Lauricella faded back and connected with Rechichar for the score.

But for Bordinger, the game was assuming all the earmarks of a 0-0 job.

The triumph, of course, was Neyland's, even if the line who learned all it knows from Farmer Johnson did carry their beloved teacher off the field first.

When you check down the roster, you find that the Neyland staff is all Neyland taught. Line Coach Johnson was Tennessee, class of '29. Backfield Coach Harvey Robinson was class of '31. Assistant Line Coach Burr West was class of '41. Assistant Backfield Coach Ralph Chancy was class of '49. End Coaches Al Hust class of '43 and Chan Caldwell class of '47.

North OK After Food Poison Bout

By EDWIN POPE
Georgia Tech's gridiron GHQ, bearing up admirably under the highest pressure of a bend-promoting campaign, was shocked briefly Monday by an attack of food poisoning on Bobby North.

Atlanta's vest-pocket Jackhammer, however, came out of it quickly. Trainer Buck Andel said he'd be as well as ever for the Georgia classic at Athens Saturday.

Coach Bobby Dodd wiped his brow. Loss of North would be the one thing to completely destroy his hopes of upsetting the Bulldogs.

Reassuring news failed to bring the doctored mentor all the way back to his amiability par, though. "I predict three things," he said, his towering bulk swathed in three pairs of socks, as many britches and sweat shirts, and various other warming habiliments.

"First, that Joe Salome will start because of his immense improvement."

"Secondly, that we will suffer greatly because of recurrent injuries to three tackles—Hal Miller, Lamar Wheat and Bill Thaden. None of them will be at top form."

That was news. All three were believed in fine condition again after battling injuries all year.

"And, thirdly, that we will catch the devil in Athens."

At the end of the field nearest Tenth Street, Dodd's young warriors were huddled, hooded, against the concrete wall. A wag suggested that maybe they were just getting in practice, and Dodd had to agree.

"We should play our best game," he said, "simply because we always do against Georgia. But we are easy two-"

Generally speaking, Tech's brain-trust was in as jocular a mood as could be expected.

Backfield Coach Ray Ellis, his apparent to Dodd's Kingdom of laughter, allowed as how "we might jump up and give 'em a heck of a battle."

Line Coach Ray Graves was grimly apprehensive of his inexperienced line's chances against Georgia's big and hard-hitting forewall.

End Coach Bill Jordan kept quiet, too, but not because of any doubt of his charges' ability to hold their own. The flanks are two positions where Georgia Tech is clearly superior to Georgia.

Williamson Ranks Vols 5th, Cats 6th

By PAUL B. WILLIAMSON
Tennessee's 7-0 upset victory over Kentucky at Knoxville Saturday helped General Bob Neyland's Vols to vault into fifth place among the nation's teams in the Williamson rating system.

The Wildcats, in bowing for the first time, dropped to sixth.

Oklahoma, Texas, Army and Princeton rank at the top in that order, with Illinois, California, Michigan State and Clemson finishing out the top ten behind the Vols and Cats.

Frank Broyles May Join Coaching Staff at Tech

When Frank Broyles was an all-conference quarterback at Georgia Tech, Coach Bobby Dodd said it was like, having a coach on the field.

The Constitution learned Monday night that Broyles, backfield coach at Florida, may rejoin Dodd as a bona fide assistant at Tech.

Broyles, visiting his parents in Decatur and scouting for future Florida talent, dismissed the matter by saying he merely paid a friendly visit to Tech Monday. But an authoritative source disclosed that Broyles talked to Dodd about returning to his native state and alma mater as an assistant coach.

Regarded as one of the finest young coaches in collegiate football, the youthful Broyles jumped from the Tech campus into an assistant coaching job with Bob Woodruff at Baylor.

At Baylor, he developed Adrian Burk into one of the Southwest's best passers. Burk, of course, played a major role in Baylor's rapid rise.

When Woodruff was lured to Florida, Broyles came along and polished Haywood Sullivan, one of the Southeastern Conference's best pitchers this season.

Dressen To Pilot Brooklyn

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Chuck Dressen, once suspended for leaving Brooklyn in too much of a hurry, will return to the Dodgers as manager, it was learned Monday.

The 52-year-old veteran's appointment is expected to be announced at a Dodger press conference Tuesday afternoon.

Dressen left his Oakland, Cal., home last Wednesday and is believed en route here.

The Dodgers declined to comment on the report that Chuck already had been signed to replace 66-year-old Burt Shotton.

Shotton, an old buddy of the departed Branch Ricker, won two pennants and finished second in three full seasons with Brooklyn. His club, favorites in the 1950 race, trailed the pennant-winning Phillies by two games.

Grey-haired Burt has been rated one of the leading contenders for the managerial job in the first full reign of Walter O'Malley, new Brooklyn president.

Dressen, an old hand in Brooklyn, coached the Dodgers for seven seasons during the Leo Durocher regime. He joined the Yankees on Nov. 5, 1946 as an aide to Manager Bucky Harris, and that led to a 30-day suspension.

That happened when Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler suspended Durocher for a year on April 9, 1947. At the same time, Chandler suspended Dressen for a 30-day period for leaving the Dodgers for the Yanks.

A canny handler of pitchers and a noted sign-stealer, Dressen managed the Cincinnati Reds from July 18, 1934, to September of 1937. His first managerial job was at Nashville in the Southern Association.

MICHIGAN, CAL IN ROSE

Clemson, Miami In Orange Bowl

Condensed From Constitution Wire Reports
Clemson's unbeaten Tigers Monday night accepted a bid to play Miami University in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day to climax a busy day on the bowl front.

Earlier Miami, which ends its season against Missouri Friday night, was named as the host team by the Orange Bowl committee.

Oklahoma players, as expected, voted to visit the Sugar Bowl for the third straight year and will meet Kentucky, which was named last Saturday.

Michigan, upset victor over Northwestern last week, and powerful California received official nods as Rose Bowl opponents. Both were considered a cinch for this game.

Tennessee and Texas previously were announced on the Cotton Bowl menu.

Only the Gator Bowl, among the major New Year's attractions, remains to be filled. Clemson had been considered as the best bet, but preferred Orange blossoms.

Alabama, considered a sure thing for a trip to Miami, probably will be the top choice by the Gator Bowl. Tulane, Nebraska, Wyoming and Tulsa are other teams receiving attention.

Elsewhere, Emory and Henry and Morris Harvey were matched in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.; Boise, Idaho, which hasn't suffered a loss in 40 games, was pitted against Long Beach City college in the Little Rose Bowl at Pasadena; and Del Mar, of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Garden City J.C. of Garden City, Kans., were named for the Junior Sugar Bowl at Monroe, La., Dec. 8.

Good—But Not Good Enough

Our only objection to the home rule amendment being drafted by the Georgia Association of County Commissioners is that it doesn't go far enough.

It would eliminate the ridiculous situation of the recent general election in which 33 of the 37 constitutional amendments on the ballot were of purely local application. But it would not save the General Assembly from the time-consuming job of passing local legislation.

Also, it would continue the control of legislators over local governments. Under the plan proposed by County Commissioners, the Legislature would pass the necessary local bills but provide that voters in the county affected must approve them by referendum.

The only real solution is a home rule law such as that which passed the House at the last session but which never was brought up on the floor of the Senate. Georgia now has a home rule bill of sorts, but because so many counties are excepted from its provisions it has been riddled by court decisions and is of doubtful validity. Every year the Legislature passes hundreds of local bills. No local legislation can be passed unless it has approval of that county's delegation because local bills are not passed on merit but on "legislative courtesy," which is merely a form of reciprocal back-scratching. In that manner the legislator or legislators from any county hold a whip hand over local governments. They can refuse to pass needed legislation or they can insist upon passing legislation which might be harmful.

What the County Commissioners' Association proposes would be a help to the voter in the general election. But it would continue legislative control over local functions and officials. Initiation of local legislation still would be up to the General Assembly instead of being left with the people of the affected area.

This measure would be only a half step forward at a time when Georgia needs to take the full jump.

Even with its defects, though, the County Commissioners' plan is encouraging. It indicates that serious thinking is going on about home rule. Certainly the experience in the election early this month was enough to provoke a change.

Putting the Cart Before the Horse

The biggest issue of the "lame duck" session of Congress will be the excess profits tax bill.

That seems to us to be putting the cart before the horse.

Any individual or business concern confronted with emergency expenditures immediately sets about to cut down on normal expenses. Spending for luxuries goes first. Then generous slices are made in expenses which, however desirable and perhaps needful in ordinary times, becomes insignificant in a period of stress.

It may be too much to expect the Government to use the same degree of common sense in dealing with the present defense emergency, but it ought not to be too much to expect more reduction in non-defense spending than yet has been accomplished. Reductions so far are more token than real.

Yet it is estimated the Federal budget for nonessentials could be cut by $6,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000 annually without serious repercussions.

The excess profits tax which Mr. Truman is asking would produce only about $4,000,000,000 annually.

There is not much doubt that more taxes will be necessary, including perhaps an excess profits tax or the equivalent. But it seems to us Congress, and the President, propose to go about the task of financing rearmament in high-speed reverse. There has not even been a final estimate on what rearmament will cost.

The excess profits tax has taken on such a political hue as to be a real threat to action on rearmament itself. Too many people, encouraged by labor unions, view it as the only means of equalizing the tax burden. We doubt that, though we would have no great objection to an excess profits tax if Congress first explored other suggestions and, after a thorough investigation, found it valid. What we do object to is blind acceptance of the excess profits tax as the only means of increasing revenue and of equalizing the cost of rearmament.

Labor unions favor it chiefly, we suspect, because it reduces employer resistance to wage increases. Employers had rather raise wages than pay out the money in taxes to the Government. It also encourages business to be lax about other expenses. It is inflationary, hard to administer and carries more than the normal share of inequities.

The public would feel better about new taxes of any sort if Congress first insisted upon less spending for nondefense purposes.

New, Unique And Welcome

Twice in a row the State of Indiana has elected a Democrat Governor in the person of Henry F. Schricker and at the same time has chosen Republicans to fill all other elective State offices.

Following his recent re-election, Gov. Schricker has reassured the newly elected Secretary of State, a Republican mind you, that the Governor will not remove the Bureau of Motor Vehicles from the Secretary of State's control, even though the power to do so is written in the statutes.

That such a thing should happen is a little hard to believe here in Georgia, where we have seen Governors forcibly eject State officers of an opposing faction.

But we have the word of the Indianapolis Star that it did happen in Indiana, the Star commenting, "The people of Indiana will be gratified that the Governor has taken this position and has disdained narrow partisanship in the interests of all the citizens of the State."

There is no doubt that Gov. Henry Schricker's policy of putting State ahead of party and personalities has had much to do with his popularity among Hoosiers of both parties.

Such a policy would be new, unique and welcome in Georgia.

Positive Proof Of a Pay-Off

A six per cent gain in farm income for the first nine months of 1950 gives Georgia the greatest rate increase for the period of any state in the nation, the Atlanta office of the U. S. Department of Commerce reports.

Only six among the 48 states showed gains during the period, with three of these in the South. Florida and North Carolina were the other two.

We are not sure where farmers in those two neighbor commonwealths got their increased cash, but to us the favorable report here at home means that diversification—peppers, pastures, peanuts, and the like—is paying off.

No Trifling

(Milledgeville Union-Recorder)

Those who are responsible for the administration of the law should show no leniency to the drunken driver, the greatest menace to the safety of our highways today. We spend millions fighting cancer and polio, yet drunken driving kills three times as many people each year.

We can stop this business by a firm and determined attitude in handling these cases. We urge those who drive not to drink, and those who drink not to drive, for when you drink and drive a car you can become a murderer in the twinkling of an eye. Let's stop these menaces and killers.

Not Much Hope

(Thomaston Times)

The Atlanta Constitution has a reporter covering the State studying the condition of the highways and making photos of same. These findings are being published in The Constitution and reveal a shameful condition of the paved highways in Georgia. Of course, those who have had the occasion to travel around the State much are already aware of the deplorable condition of our pavements. The Atlanta Constitution is doing a public service in exposing the sad state of our roads.

Georgia seems to get less for her money invested in roads than any of our neighbors. This is probably due to the fact that our highway system has been politics ridden for so long.

It is a great pity that Georgia should be the victim of a highway system that wastes so much of our tax money and gives us so little in the way of paved highways. As long as the Highway Department is in politics this condition is going to continue, however. We don't see much to hope for in this direction.

The expose being put on by the papers may eventually force some improvement, but it now seems doubtful.

Sure It Will Come

(Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin in The Bainbridge Post-Searchlight)

The next time the General Assembly meets a home rule bill should be enacted into law. Now I don't mean a political home rule bill where the people are plagued to death with elections every few months. Every two years is often enough to hold local elections.

A home rule bill should include county matters as well. The last home rule bill which failed to pass the General Assembly only applied to cities. It should provide for the settlement of all strictly local affairs at the city and county level. Local measures do not take up as much time in the General Assembly as some would contend, but there is confusion and indifference in State-wide voting on local issues.

I am satisfied there will be a satisfactory home rule bill enacted into law at the next session.

They Won't Be Home for Christmas

Four Atlanta motorists were given 30-day jail sentences for drunken driving yesterday.

That's one way to alleviate the city's traffic problems.

Henceforth, according to Traffic Judge Luke Arnold, motorists who spend too much time in front of bars are going to spend more time behind them.

He has amended the old nursery rhyme to: "Thirty days hath September, April, June and those occupying the driver's seat while intoxicated."

That ought to be the most effective sobering influence since the lion escaped from the Bijou.

You've heard of judges "throwing the book" at defendants? Well, Luke is tossing the library.

The Judge's get-tough policy is a timely one, what with a lot of people already dreaming of a tight Christmas.

If he keeps it up, a lot of men of distinction are going to be switching to sarsaparilla.

There's nothing like the threat of a 30-day hangover to quench a thirst.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

A View Through Rose-Colored Glasses

WASHINGTON—Despite the setback suffered by the Democrats in the recent national elections, party workers who have made an analysis of the final returns have come up with the following conclusion: "It is clear that a presidential election held today would (a) mean a net gain in Democratic Congressional seats; (b) elect a Democratic President."

The basis for this conclusion is the showing made by the Democrats in the Congressional contests. The survey stresses the point made by President Truman that the net losses of the party in the House and Senate—28 in the former and 5 in the latter—were far under those customarily sustained by the party in power in off-year elections.

"With the exception of 1934 (when the Democrats picked up on both sides of the Capitol) the average mid-term loss in the House since 1914 has been 48 seats," the party survey explained. "Even if you include the phenomenal Democratic gains of 1934 in this average, the party in power has lost an average of over 41 seats in mid-term elections."

Proceeding from this record, party analysts point out that in 1946 some 34,000,000 votes for House members produced 188 Democratic seats; in 1950 from forty to forty-one million votes produced 235 Democratic seats, and 1948, a presidential election year, 46 million votes brought in 262 Democratic seats.

Those who made the survey say that it is clear from the record here quoted "that a large turnout of voters is a Democratic vote." Hence the conclusion reached that if a presidential election were in the offing the Democrats would win and would also increase their majority in Congress.

Another interesting finding of the survey group was that the setbacks of the November 7 election are traceable to defections in the urban vote, which were said to have been influenced "unquestionably" by (1) "McCarthyism;" (2) war worries and the draft; (3) high living costs, and (4) the "tremendous propaganda" of the American Medical Association in the bitter fight it waged on the President's health insurance program.

The survey went on to say that "people have jumped to the false conclusion that the farmers deserted the Democratic party" because about half of the party losses in the House came from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

"As a matter of fact," the report said, "the farm vote this year was extremely strong for the Democrats, and the Democratic vote actually fell off in the cities. All four of the Illinois House seats were in Cook county (Chicago). The Ohio losses were in Akron, Canton, Cincinnati and Toledo. Three of the Indiana losses were in Indianapolis, South Bend and Fort Wayne districts."

It was pointed out that Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, the Majority Leader who went down to defeat, ran better than he did six years ago in the rural counties of the state, where the Democratic vote fell short was in Cook county and a few urban areas like Peoria and Rock Island.

No effort was made to explain why the adverse factors operated "to a greater extent" in the cities than in the rural communities except to blame a large share of the GOP successes to the charges of Communism in the State Department raised by Senator Joe McCarthy, Republican of Wisconsin, who was denounced as a "fraud and a hoax" by a Senate investigating committee. The report quoted one observer as characterizing the "hysteria" generated by the McCarthy charges, particularly in the cities, as "political polio."

Although the Republicans managed to pile up spectacular victories here and there the party analysts were able to point optimistically to the basic returns. In New England, for example, only one House seat was lost, while two Democratic Senators were re-elected in Connecticut, "despite one of the most vicious mud-slinging campaigns in history." Increased majorities in three Congressional seats captured from the Republicans since 1944 were also noted in Massachusetts.

Again in New York, where Governor Thomas E. Dewey won a sweeping victory for re-election, the Democrats had a net loss of only one House seat, and re-elected Senator Herbert Lehman.

In New Jersey the Democrats held on to three former GOP seats captured in 1948. And in Pennsylvania the party made one of its best off-year records in years, holding 9 of the 11 House seats gained two years ago. Senator Myers, although defeated, was credited with making a "brilliant" run.

Even in Utah, where Senator Elbert Thomas, another Democrat, was defeated, the Democrats won both Congressional seats by better than usual off-year majorities.

On the whole, the survey finds that the party did not do so badly, considering it was an off-year election. With a bigger vote and a presidential contest at stake the results would have been far better, it is claimed.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed, although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to The Editors, Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Billy Graham's Reply

The Editors: I have read with interest and surprise Mrs. Doris Lockerman's column in Sunday's Constitution and Journal, Nov. 26, headlined "Billy Graham's Stinging Slap at Atlanta Ministers Is Viewed as Regrettable."

I am absolutely certain that the complete facts were not available to her or I am certain that she would have reconsidered. When I accepted the invitation of the ministers of this city to come to Atlanta for an evangelistic effort, I promised that I would never "preach to" the pastors from the public platform. I stated very clearly that if I had any preaching to do to the ministers, it would be behind closed doors in "off-the-record" discussions at our weekly pastors' meetings.

At these weekly meetings neither the public nor the press is invited. We make it a policy of discussing the problems of the local churches, particularly as they relate to evangelism, and try to be helpful to the ministers. This policy has been strictly adhered to and I have kept my promise to the letter.

The incident to which she refers occurred last Monday morning, Nov. 20, at a closed "off-the-record" pastors' meeting at St. Mark Methodist Church. Before we began our discussion I stated very clearly once again that this was a closed meeting and that the questions the ministers asked me, my answers and my brief observations on Georgia life would be kept in strict confidence. Eighty Atlanta ministers will verify these facts. This confidence was broken by a certain newspaper writer who probably did not understand the nature of the meeting or did not hear my statements too clearly.

I am certain that any newspaper person would agree that one of the first laws of journalistic ethics is to keep "off-the-record" confidences and not to publish statements without permission. This writer, I am certain, meant no harm but quite to the contrary, I am certain, was trying to be helpful.

Concerning the nature of this closed discussion last Monday, I usually give a brief message that I feel will help the local pastor in his work and then we have a question and answer period, open discussion, etc., which many ministers feel is extremely helpful. Very tactfully, diplomatically and I trust on a spiritual basis, I presented a few observations I had made in Atlanta and made several suggestions concerning their remedy. After this period of discussion we had a time of prayer, after which many of the leading Atlanta ministers gathered around, thanking me very profusely for the help they believed I had been to them that particular morning.

You can imagine my surprise when I saw it on the front page of The Constitution the next day. You can imagine my further shock and surprise when I saw it the subject of a column, particularly the words, "Stinging Slap."

The ministers of Atlanta are the finest, most consecrated clergy I have found in all of my travels across America. I have absolute confidence in them. I came here at their request and invitation. We have done everything humanly possible to live up to their confidence. Not one time from the public platform have I insinuated or even hinted that any minister or group of ministers was not doing his job or could not be trusted with the confidence of the people. Quite to the contrary, I have repeatedly boosted the ministers of Atlanta and have done it from my heart because I believe in them.

You may be interested to know that this is the first editorial comment that has come to my attention in any newspaper—North, East, West or South—that has not been sympathetic. It is regrettable that these facts were not available to you earlier.

Please believe me, in our wonderful and democratic nation we have the right to disagree with each other. That's our heritage in this great democracy. There are many people in this city who do not agree with all of our methods or theology, but everyone agrees that this is a serious and dark hour in our republic's history. We need to stand together in Christian charity, tolerance and understanding—race with race, creed with creed—to let a Communist world know that though we Americans may at times disagree, we stand united on essentials. I have been giving the very best days of my life trying to awaken our people to repent of their wayward ways and turn to Christ and His church, Whom we believe to be the solution to our grave national problem.

Now that you have the facts I am certain you will be delighted to correct any false impressions that might have been made. By the way, I should like you to consider this a very personal invitation to attend the meetings of our closing week.

Atlanta. BILLY GRAHAM.
Editor's Note: The story to which Dr. Billy Graham refers was written by Dr. Thomas M. Elliott, Methodist minister now retired, who has been reporting religion in Georgia for The Constitution for three decades. Dr. Elliott did not know the talk was off the record and feels that the report was misinterpreted. Yesterday the ministers joined to give him a vote of confidence and affection.

Shifting of Sand

The Editors: For a long time now I have been wanting to tell someone how I feel about war. War is the shifting of sand.

Is the force of an idea worth consuming by war? We fight to raise the standard of another people and ourselves are reduced to a lower standard, the shifting of sand. We reap the rewards in higher taxes, death and a devaluation of our paycheck. Do the number of people we save ever equal the number of soldiers killed in the saving? Wouldn't patience equal more than guns?

I believe in every man to his own business and every man to his own battle. The only war I believe in is the war of self-defense. The philosophy of individuals can be the philosophy of nations. Hapeville. LUCILLE MEADOW.

Praise for Stokes

The Editors: A vignette to Mrs. Philip E. Shulhafer for her recent article of praise upon Tom Stokes' column. I, too, admire Tom Stokes' analysis of current events, national and international. Tom and I have much in common. We both had relatives at the Battle of the Crater in Petersburg, Va., and we had the pleasure of visiting with Grandma on Thanksgiving Day.

In the long run a nation finds its strongest defense lines lie back in home and school, where character is built. That is what gives free people the power to win their freedom—and hold it. East Point. EVERETT A. TRENT.

The Election Returns Don't Mean a Thing to Harry.

Strictly Hard-headed Business

WASHINGTON—Familiar signs along the Southern Democratic front seem to portend another anti-Truman, anti-Fair Deal movement from that area, but under more propitious and more respectable auspices than the 1948 Dixiecrat crusade. This is the normal season for the hatching of such periodic revolutions of recent years, just after the mid-term Congressional elections which this time, as usual, strengthened the power of conservative Southern Democrats in Congress for alliance with Republicans, and well ahead of the national conventions for nominating Presidential candidates. Sufficient time is allowed for organization for 1952. Two years ago, in the Presidential election, the Southern rebels had their most notable success of the New Deal-Fair Deal era, clipping off four States of the so-called "Solid South" from Harry Truman under the Dixiecrat banner.

Despite those successes, however, a foul odor developed about the Dixiecrat movement, emanating from its exploitation of racial prejudice as a cover from behind which they operated for their own private purposes such interests as oil, utilities, banks and the like.

That gave it a bad name nationally, as well as among great numbers of Southerners. So the Dixiecrat movement, as such, languished.

But now a new champion of Southern revolt has arisen in the person of James F. Byrnes, Governor-elect of South Carolina, who presumably will utilize that post to direct another anti-Truman drive. He carries far more weight, both South-wide and nationally, than did his predecessor, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, who became the symbol of 1948 Dixiecratism as its Presidential candidate. The latter was defeated in the primaries in an attempt to win the Senate seat of Sen. Olin Johnston.

This movement seems to have enlisted another ally who can contribute to it both a national aspect and unusual political talents in James A. Farley, of New York, former Democratic National Chairman, who has sided only with Democratic conservatives ever since his break with Franklin D. Roosevelt prior to the 1940 convention. Southern anti-Trumanites, as well as Republicans, got great comfort from Mr. Farley's recent speech in the South—at Tampa—in which he joined Jimmy Byrnes by condemning Fair Deal measures and the Fair Deal approach and, beyond that, appealed for State and regional solutions for the racial problem.

There are two no more skillful political operators than Messrs. Byrnes and Farley. The former demonstrated his capacities when, as a Senator, he was liaison for President Roosevelt between the New Dealers and Southern conservatives in Congress to negotiate the way for the New Deal in its earlier reform stages and later, after a tour of duty on the Supreme Court at Mr. Roosevelt's appointment, as chief of the Civilian War Command in the White House at the President's right hand. He was Secretary of State under President Truman for a time. Jim Farley's political organizing abilities are too well known to detail.

These two men would make an effective political team, and the difficult task they would face in their apparent objective certainly would require political talents of a high order. It is assumed that the aim is to prevent either renomination of President Truman or nomination of any Fair Dealer, rather than a separate third party ticket in 1952.

This suggests natural and obvious obstacles, first in the minority strength that the South possesses in national conventions which no longer can be exercised as a veto since repeal of the two-thirds nominating rule in 1936; second, in the reluctance of political managers and delegates to pick a conservative as head of the Democratic ticket since that would negate the party's position and its appeal. Such a candidate would not be likely to make any headway beyond the Mason-Dixon Line.

Nomination of conservatives by both parties long has been the dream of powerful economic interests, so they could rest easily whatever ticket was victorious. They were, as a matter of fact, successful in that strategy for a long period after the War Between the States, which was a barren waste for Democratic candidates. This, however, has not been the style in recent years.

Such powerful economic interests will be found encouraging the new Southern movement for its mischief-making potentialities, as they have before, both for 1952 and in Congress here meanwhile. Nor will that be because of any love for the South or its people or nostalgia for magnolias and honeysuckle and Southern cooking. It is strictly hard-headed business.

FRED OTHMAN

Normalcy Returns to Capitol

WASHINGTON—That slight hissing sound you've been hearing all morning was me. Sighing in relief. Congress is back on the job and nobody, not even President Truman, is happier to see the gentlemen than me. The last act of this year's big show is on and what if some of the performers do show up in the cartoons as wounded ducks with crutches under their wings? I love them every one. They do my work for me. I merely have to be there every day and my stories practically write themselves. For instance: There's a big yammer brewing about the way the Senate chamber has been turned into a Grand Central Station with walls of cream-colored marble. On the House side the question is, did Speaker Sam Rayburn confound the architects by ordering the bleached walnut woodwork dyed natural color?

THE HOUSE Ways and Means Committee is in the midst of a magnificent fight over how to slap more taxes on corporations. Some Senators are winging their way back from still another investigation of the Pan-American Highway in Guatemala, which is a particularly nice thing to investigate this time of year.

I'd better report in passing that Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican, Michigan, who investigated this highway a couple of years ago, has on his mantelpiece four hand-made leather shoes for pigs. These beasts, said he, are the principal travelers along this route, but the concrete hurts their feet. Hence the boots which every pig wears when walking down the highway in Guatemala.

The Banking Committee of the Senate is about to open hearings on the troubles of the poor, down-trodden auto dealers, who cannot sell their merchandise in land-office fashion any more on account of stringent credit rules. Practically all of them promise immediate delivery now. Some are offering discounts to those who pay straight cash. Many are refusing trade-ins because the used-car business is even worse than the new.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, Democrat, Tennessee, is returning from Los Angeles, where he has been trying to discover what goes with gangster Mickey Cohen. The Senator will have a report on that; he'll also be subjected to interviews on what, if anything, his Chicago crime investigations had to do with the Democratic fizzle there. Sen. Scott Lucas, Democrat, Illinois, who had nothing whatever to do with the get-rich-quick sheriff turned up there by Sen. Kefauver, blames the latter in large part for his defeat.

MILLARD F. TYDINGS, the long-time Democratic Senator from Maryland, will be singing what the political writers call his swan song. He is perhaps the best speechmaker in the Senate and his song undoubtedly will be a graceful one, unless, of course, he's hoarse from breathing too much smoke.

Sen. T. has more than 100 cases of correspondence, all of which he must clean out.

Some of his more confidential documents he stuffed into the marble fireplace of his office. He lit a match. Achoo! Not until too late did he realize that every fireplace in the Senate office building is a chimneyless dummy.

Yes, sir, gentlemen, welcome home. You've no idea how I missed you.

Is There Anywhere A Brighter Picture?

Recently, I rode back from Montgomery, Ala., with R. Y. (Kudzu) Bailey of the Soil Conservation Service and we discussed the fact that tall fescue grass (most of it Ky. 31) has now reached a total of one million acres. This figure is for the nine Southeastern states where Bailey serves as research agronomist.

A million acres of any crop are a lot of acres but with fescue it is even more so. These are the most important acres on the farm and in the aggregate they are the most important acres in the Southeast.

Change Over These are the acres that change us over into the best potential livestock section of the nation. These are the acres that will keep the South in the cattle business when the high-priced land and barn-fed cattle sections won't be able to remain in it.

These are the acres that complete the difficult cycle of year-round grazing, providing, as they do, feed during the very trying months of November, December, January and February. Other crops can make feed during the balance of the year but fescue is tops for the difficult Winter months.

These one million acres of fescue grass probably cost the farmers of the Southeast approximately $35 million. The seed cost upwards of $8 million, the fertilizer and lime about $22 million, and the labor used up the rest.

The million acres produced no less than 100 million pounds of beef the first year and this would bring the farmers no less than $20 million. After the first year the seed crop will increase the income no less than $40 per acre, an additional $40 million.

Combination In combination with other grasses the fescue will produce 300 or more pounds of beef per acre, plus a seed crop. If one omits the seed crop and the fescue is grown with companion legumes, the beef yield may easily reach 500 pounds per acre, per year.

A million acres of fescue grass is big business. A hundred million pounds of beef is big business. That's what fescue is doing now, making meat. Two hundred million is still bigger and 300 million is even bigger. That's where fescue is headed.

Another five years at our present rate of increase in fescue grazing and the South will be the most stable meat-producing section of the nation. We will be the nation's market for stocker cattle, for breeding stock, and for milk-fat calves. By then we'll have 25 million acres of fescue grass.

Is there a brighter picture anywhere?

BUGS BAER

An Army surplus is something the lads sell for the fun of buying it back. A world war is the ballyhoo for the junk business.

A fellow down in Texas bought some catalogued Government wreckage for about $6. With the quickness of the wind the Government bought it back for 63,000 smackers without dropping a stitch.

They tell me the fellow was a Republican when he started that deal. There was a time in the bad old days when a vote cost only two boffos.

How long could a private citizen stay in business if he operated that way? Excluding, of course, people present—and the fellow in Texas.

HAROLD MARTIN

You'll Have 'Birds in the Heart'

Personally, I do not know anything about birds. And I cannot tell a red-eyed vireo from a double-breasted seersucker. I can tell a crow and a buzzard and an owl when I see one, but beyond that I am like the guide who once took me on a tour of the Okefenokee Swamp. There were a great many birds in evidence here and there in the swamp, and I would inquire of this guide, who was a Federal employee and a man, I presumed, of some ornithological knowledge, what were the names of these birds. He would solemnly observe the bird about which I had inquired. It would be a large white bird with a kind of topnot on its head.

"That," he would say, "is one of them old big whoopers."

Another bird, different in size and shape but similar in color would fly up. I would inquire about this bird. "That," my friend would announce, in the manner of a man handing down a decision of the Supreme Court, "is one of them old little whoopers."

Now and then as we drifted through the swamp, great clouds of tiny birds would flit by uttering reedy, piping cries. "What are those?" I would ask, athirst for authentic information.

"Them," said my guide, "is a bunch of little old chee-chees."

I came away from the swamp under the delusion that the myriad bird life of that primeval fen was made up exclusively of big whoopers, little whoopers and little old chee-chees, the latter being a bird whose name I have never seen in any bird book, nor heard except in the colloquial speech of rural Georgia.

After that discouraging experience, when my budding interest in birds was smothered under an avalanche of misinformation delivered with the assurance of an oracle, my interest in birds waned. The birds went their way and I, mine.

I do not mean to convey by this that I grew to dislike birds. I became mildly fond of birds. I was in full accord with my young son when, in the interest of earning a Boy Scout merit badge, he built a feeding station for the birds outside my window to which great numbers of birds came, jerking their tails and gobbling crumbs greedily. I observed these visiting birds closely and came to the conclusion that birds and people are very much alike.

Birds particularly possess the more unpleasant attributes of people, such as greed and jealousy. The birds who first discovered the feeding station seemed to think it was theirs to hold in fee simple, and they sought to drive off all newcomers, even though there was food enough for all. I also witnessed a number of family tiffs that arose when the female of a pair would start preening herself and otherwise indicating publicly that she was interested in some flamboyant bachelor.

Local birds, I noted, also have a basic dislike for visiting birds, or migrants, a phenomenon which has also been noted by Mr. Ed Kirsch, of 1170 Amsterdam Ave., N. E., who has just called to tell me of a battle going on in his front yard. It seems that in Mr. Kirsch's front yard are two dogwood trees in which a mockingbird who lives at Mr. Kirsch's house makes his residence. During the recent cold spell a vast host of migratory birds (Editor's note: Probably chee-chees) paused in Mr. Kirsch's dogwood to seek shelter from the cold. Mr. Kirsch's mockingbird has been in a frenzy of rage ever since, divebombing the strangers from great heights, abusing them shrilly, and heartlessly seeking to chase them from what he obviously considers to be his own property.

It was with this conviction that birds, as individuals, are unknowable by the layman and that to know them is to discover in them certain unpleasant attributes that I took up, this chilly weekend, that magnificent book, "Menaboni's Birds," by Sara and Athos Menaboni.

There is no need here for me to describe the paintings of Mr. Menaboni, for everybody who has ever seen one of his pictures knows that such bird pictures have not been seen in this generation and that Audubon himself would have been happy to call him brother.

I prefer to refer to the text—the fascinating running account written by Mrs. Menaboni about the love affair that has been going on between her husband and all the birds of this region for years.

It is not a scientific treatise on birds, but rather a long and sustainedly interesting essay on the dozens of different birds which have lived with the Menabonis as members of the family. It begins with her admission that she herself never knew one bird from another until she married the man who, as she described it, had "birds in his heart."

It goes on then to talk of the personalities of each bird they have owned, from starlings to eagles, from humming birds to crows, and through her words you see clearly what the casual bird watcher merely senses dimly, that birds do have personalities and that their motives are the same as those of people. They are arrogant sometimes, selfish sometimes, jealous sometimes, but at the same time they can be kind and affectionate, loving and generous. They even possess a sense of humor.

There is no space here for a long description of the Menaboni book. All that it is necessary to say is that once you've read it, and seen the pictures, you'll never again see a bird on the wing without having a little feeling of comradeship toward it. If you have even the slightest interest in birds, even if, having none, you merely pick up this book to while away an hour or so, once you've read it you'll forever after have, as Sara Menaboni believes we all profitably could have, "birds in the heart."

How MILD can a cigarette be?

"Singing is my living. I smoke the mild cigarette that agrees with my throat—CAMELS!"

Marguerite Piazza
STAR OF OPERA AND TELEVISION

"Thanks to a very enjoyable and sensible test, I know what mildness means! I made the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test. Smoking Camels regularly for 30 days gave me a chance to discover that Camels are just right for my throat. And I learned something else, too. I never tire of that good-tasting Camel flavor! My own 'T-Zone' gave me the answer. It's easy to see why more people smoke Camels than any other cigarette."

MARGUERITE PIAZZA, acclaimed for the lead roles she has so brilliantly acted and sung in opera, now adds the vast television audience to her legion of admirers. She still finds time for extensive concert tours.

DeKalb 'To Pay Way' On Civil Defense

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Details of DeKalb County participation in the Atlanta Area Civilian Defense program will be worked out in a conference Tuesday.

Scott Candler, DeKalb County Commissioner, said he and George M. (Pup) Phillips, Defense Director, will confer on the matter, and added: "DeKalb will pay its way, as it always has."

Last week, representatives of local government in Atlanta and Fulton and Cobb Counties urged Candler to enter the area-wide program to standardize procedures and to organize the most efficient organization. All others involved already have indicated their intentions to take part.

Mail Certainty Assumed

Atlanta is not responsible if the mails fail to go through. That Monday was a decision of Council's Tax Committee when it turned down a request that it, fa. costs for properties owned by three Atlantans be cancelled because notices were not received. The committee also asked $200 to bond 19 water bill collection sub-stations scattered throughout the City. At the present time the station operators are not bonded, but no charge is made for collecting the City's bills. Committeemen also approved an ordinance requiring a special police permit to operate games of chance.

City Hall Loses Face

A 2½ by 3-foot section of terra cotta between the second and third floors of the City Hall Building fell late Sunday. Howard Monroe, Building Superintendent, is trying to ascertain whether the freeze caused it to break after 20 years. He arranged with a concern to repair the break.

Short Notes

irate patrons whose bills are considered too high—but Monday he was smarting under a new charge. A lady addressed a letter with: "Dear Mr. Burglar." She, too, had a big bill. . . . Permit for an improvement and renovation program costing $100,000 has been issued to the Citizens and Southern National Bank. Approximately $20,000 fire safety compliance. Beers Construction Company is listed as contractor.

Photographic Show

Atlantans having old pieces of photographic or motion picture equipment have been invited to enter them in an exhibition of photographic history which will be a feature of the dedication for the new main library next Thursday. Those wishing to enter exhibits are to contact Dr. T. K. Peters, Special Assistant in charge of the Audio-Visual division which will be a new service for the expanded facility. Several photographic firms, including Eastman, Ansco and others, as well as motion studios, will have exhibits which marked the early days of photography. John Settelmayer, Library Director, emphasized that local contributions are wanted to supplement the professional pieces.

Ilse Koch's Trial Opens Amid Cries of 'Kill Her...'

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

AUGSBURG, Germany, Nov. 27—(AP)—Irate Bavarians shouted, "Kill her, kill her" Monday as Ilse Koch, notorious "Red Witch of Buchenwald" left a German court on the opening day of her trial on charges of instigating wartime prison murders.

The chubby, red-haired woman had just told the court she had been "merely a housewife" in the notorious Buchenwald concentration camp—too busy raising her children to commit the hundreds of crimes with which she is charged.

Her late husband, Karl, commanded the camp and Frau Koch said she never interfered or tried to influence him.

The German court has charged her with instigating the murder of 45 inmates, instigating the attempted murder of 136 others, and with brutality.

She already has served four years of a commuted life sentence on a U. S. War Crimes Court's conviction of acts against Allied Nationals.

Monday, when the prosecution concluded a 140-page charge sheet, she told Chief Judge George Maginot:

"I never saw anything at Buchenwald which might have been against humanity. I never saw inmates being beaten."

Spectators in the Catholic Trades Union Hall, which is substituting for the bombed out Augsburg courtroom, snickered in derision at the 43-year-old woman said in a clear, firm voice:

"I was too busy raising my two children. I never left the house. It was impossible to leave. I had too much to do."

Abundant Pork Crop Points To Easier Food Budgeting

By AGNES REASON OLMSTEAD

A summing up of the meat situation as it appears now indicates that meat production will increase in 1951 according to reports from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the American Meat Institute.

The third largest pork crop in history will be marketed this Fall and Winter. Not only is pork becoming available in good quantity, but also in fine quality and a wide variety of cuts, making it an excellent buy for budget-conscious homemakers.

Record numbers of cattle are now on feed and will be coming to market this Fall and Winter in improved supply. Veal and lamb will continue to be on the less plentiful side.

Meat production in 1950 will be larger than in '49. Due to record supplies of livestock feed, meat supplies in 1951 are expected to be around 23.5 billion pounds. This would be the largest meat supply in peacetime history—around 150 pounds per capita.

Prices of meat and meat animals are expected to rise if defense expenditures increase consumer incomes. Whether prices will go up a lot or a little depends on the effect of military expenditures on the national economy, BAE reports. If there is no serious inflation, the larger meat production may keep price rises moderate. Spareribs, which are rib ends of pork, are noted for their fine flavor and versatile preparation. One of the long-time favorites is the substantial dish of ribs stuffed with dressing.

SPARERIBS STUFFED WITH CHESTNUTS

2 pounds spareribs
2 cups cooked chestnuts
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup hot water
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground lemon rind
1/2 melted butter or margarine
2 teaspoons lard
1/2 teaspoon pepper

While the chestnuts are hot, mash or put them through a ricer. Mix the crumbs and hot water and let stand two minutes. Then combine crumbs with chestnuts and all other ingredients.

Trim the ends of the ribs neatly. Crack them crosswise the entire length in two places. Fill the ribs with the stuffing, fold the ends over and tie to hold in place. Put in a roasting pan and brown the meat in a hot oven 425 degrees. Reduce the temperature to 350 degrees, cover the pan and cook until tender, about one hour. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and pile chestnut stuffing on top. Lay second section on top of dressing and cook in a moderate oven, 350 degrees.

STUFFED SPARERIBS ARE EASY TO COOK

Golden ribs filled with chestnut dressing and garnished with spiced apples make a meal a feast.

Another way is to use two matching sections of spareribs. Place one in a baking dish.

Let's face it . . . TIME is of the essence!

Enjoying the Middle Years

By HARRY CASEY

An increasing problem of longer-living Georgians is how to make productive use of The Middle Years—those years between forced retirement and the age of physical and mental exhaustion. Harry Casey offers Constitution readers tips on making The Middle Years happy, active and financially rewarding.

Why should your wife be the only member of the family to enjoy good music? Some people shy away from the arts as instinctively as some children avoid spinach. Kin Hubbard made his famous character, "Abe Martin," say: "Classical music is the kind we keep hoping will turn into a tune." There are musical notes which are inaudible to the human ear and some folks want more of this kind.

Actually, most of these scoffers probably could get real enjoyment from music—or any of the fine arts—by devoting as much time for preliminary study as was necessary to enjoy canasta, pinocle or football. Many of the popular songs you hum or whistle are tunes lifted from the music of Dvorak, Debussy, Tchaikovsky, Rachmaninoff.

Most forms of enjoyment require some preparation. If you enjoy traveling, it is helpful to "read up" on the places you are to visit; if you would enjoy golf, a little preliminary coaching would not be amiss. To keep learning something new is to keep forever young. And the public library can always furnish a book or a magazine to aid you in learning most everything.

Why boast about the things you cannot do? Are you proud that you don't like music or understand painting or read French? One middle-aged proudly says: "I've never worked a crossword puzzle in my life." Maybe it's a moot question whether crosswords are educational—unless you are fascinated by such words as uvate, fabes, dils, doss, pate, gelid. The point is there is no real fun in following a frozen routine or in being proud of not doing things.

Atlanta Fans To Picnic En Route to Athens Game

By ANNIE LOU HARDY

Tired of battling the traffic between here and Athens to witness the Tech-Georgia football game at one of the most exciting tilts of the season, a group of prominent Atlantans has hit upon a novel idea. They have chartered two big buses to take them to Athens Saturday.

It will be a family affair, for many of the couples will take their children along. Each couple will take a picnic luncheon which will be served en route, thus eliminating the battle for food after arrival.

The party, which will meet at 11 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club for the take-off, will include Mr. and Mrs. James White and their daughter, Susan; Mr. and Mrs. Colquhoun Carter and their daughter, Nancy; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Black and their daughter, Dottie; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hull and their sons, Gerry and Richard.

Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Inman Brandon and their son, Chris; Mr. and Mrs. William Healey, Jr. and their daughter, Callie; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cooper and their daughter, Katherine; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Healey, Jr. and Mrs. Cyrus Strickler, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schwab, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Marion Courts, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Westmoreland, Jr. and Mrs. William Minnich, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. William Huger, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Martin and Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff.

Athens hostesses, as always, will open wide their doors to the hordes of visitors, and there will be gay buffet luncheons before the game, and tea and cocktails afterwards. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell, Jr., will motor to Athens with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sanford to have luncheon with Mrs. S. V. Sanford, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Martin of Atlanta will complete the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sams will also entertain a group of Atlantans at luncheon.

Home and Family

Food Habits, Not Heredity, Cause Fat

At first blush, it appears that overweight must be hereditary. Fat certainly seems to run in families. Take the Smiths for example—all the children are rolly-polly and the parents are on the buxom side. But before we put the blame on the family tree, let's have dinner at their house.

My, they have good food to eat! Mrs. Smith just loves to cook, and nothing pleases her more than to see her family eat and enjoy themselves. Mr. Smith prides himself on being a good provider. None of that "go easy on the butter, boys, it's eighty cents a pound" no indeed, the butter dish is big and well-filled, at the beginning of the meal that is. The sugar bowl is ample size too.

If there's one thing the Smith family can't abide, it's "good, plain cooking"—they like the trimmings. Our hostess certainly has a way with food. She fixes the greens with bacon, and makes such good gravy... the secret, she says, is not to add much water. The scalloped potatoes certainly are delicious... it's the cheese, Mrs. Smith beams... take a half pound of cheese and melt into the white sauce and spread this between each layer of the potatoes. The secret of her French dressing recipe... be liberal with the olive oil and stingy with the vinegar.

The serving dishes are right in front of the host, and he delights in piling on seconds. On the homemade biscuits, everybody takes thirds... pass the gravy. Then they all sit back and chorus, "What's for dessert, Mom?"... giving the impression that dessert is the high spot of the meal. Mom tells them she has a surprise, and they all start guessing. She comes in proudly bearing Baked Alaska... and the family cheers.

The only thing wrong with that way of eating is that it's so fattening! When overweight runs in families, it's generally easy to prove that fattening food habits do too. What is really inherited is an appetite for all those fattening dishes... an excessive appetite. Of course excess pounds are the natural and inevitable result.

Fattening food habits are usually passed on to the next generation. The girls in the family are all taught to cook and the boys send their brides around to get Mom's recipes... and so it goes. It's true that some families inherit a stocky frame, and some races of people tend to be more heavy set. But that is body structure, not fat. Fat itself is never inherited. And when most members of a family lean toward avoirdupois, look to food habits.

What should the Smith family overweights do? Cut off the fattening corners and stop overeating. Mrs. Smith, with her flair for food, can apply her skill in preparing delicious, low-calorie dishes and in planning meals to keep her family at normal weight.

For help in this direction, send for "Teen-Age Slimming Menus." These menus will best fit family planning. Please address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Constitution, and enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Women are Different

Women live longer (to compensate, nature has more boy babies born). They try suicide more (but men succeed 3 times as often). Girls suffer more from anxiety than boys, have a richer fantasy life. Read little-known facts about how the sexes differ. Get December Reader's Digest today.

'Lost' Papers Add Confusion In Emergency

By YOLANDE GWIN

How is your memory these days? Or do you just think you know where you keep the deed to the house? Or your marriage certificate or the birth and christening records of the children? And don't forget the insurance policies—accident and life—have you any idea where they are or do you just think you know? Do you have tax receipts, if so, where are they?

If the answer is No, then as manager of this business called Home, you've got more liabilities than assets. In other words, as an office manager your business is run with confusion, ignorance, misunderstanding, misjudgment and totally without any plan or system.

Since it is a matter of record that women outlive men, it stands to reason, and a very sensible one at that, for a woman to be in the know about a lot of things pertaining to running the "home office."

Behind the whole idea is the need to plan your work and then work your plan. Perhaps with the help of a professional planner, and all homes being geared to a holiday tempo, a housekeeper—and career woman too—may think that the idea of systematizing her day to obtain a thorough understanding of various aspects of her actual life, would be the basis for a good New Year resolution. It is a good idea, but on the way to get the groceries, or down town shopping or even when you slip away to the beauty parlor, what about applying a memory test to yourself?

Suppose you have an accident in the car? Where are the insurance papers? And if a trip to the hospital is necessary, where is the mortgage? When are the taxes due? And where are they paid and where are the receipts for the past years? If you haven't made your will, why haven't you? Aren't there some very special things at home which you'd like certain ones to have or do you prefer that all your cherished heirlooms be tossed to anyone who happens to want them? Perhaps you wear your wedding, engagement ring and your watch all the time, but where do you keep them? At a time of distress, accident, death or immediate knowledge of your affairs, tearing up the house looking for these important items adds confusion to an already upset situation.

A husband can co-operate to a great extent in this home management providing his wife has the gumption and the good sense to ask him a few questions—and learn the easy way rather than have to wait for a crisis in the family and learn the hard way.

Get the family together and hold a "directors meeting" and be informed. Get the family a filing cabinet or a strong box, where important papers—deeds, stocks and bonds, insurance, and property ownership deeds can be found. Keep the family jewelry and heirloom pieces in one box so that they can be easily found right away. Catalogue everything, know where everything can be found, and check each week to see that your home business is being run with efficiency; may upset a plan for today to do this, but it will set up a plan for peace of mind tomorrow when the inevitable may happen.

LET'S SEE NOW

Deep Freeze Gone --- Shivers Remain

By DORIS LOCKERMAN

It was the beginning of our cold spell.

Crystals, perfectly formed as jewels, had been tiptoeing down from the grey sky just long enough to cover the sea of grass at the Bobby Jones golf course with a frosty glimmer. The boys were skimming down the sides of the little hills on the only sled in the neighborhood, shrieking and shouting in that peculiar exhilaration of a rare snowstorm.

Down town, the grown-ups had responded the same way, holding out their hands to capture the beauty and wondrous patterns of the flakes.

Already furnaces had been turned up against the cold, and smoke and steam rose from chimneys like the breath of a snorting horse on a chill, winter day.

There was a feeling of snug security at large, in which home and warmth, the leaping flame of fires, wove their own magic spell.

It was a night they would sense in the colder North and West as the first signal for feather mattresses, heated bricks lovingly wrapped in towels and deposited at the feet of beds where cherished ones would sleep. That night the wary mother would watch for stockings and underwear, smuggled under pajamas to ward off the first astringent shock of icy sheets.

It would be the real beginning of winter, of the sound of hard snow crunching underfoot, of the howl of bleak winds, and the blinding glare of a winter sun on a landscape of luminous silver. It would mean feet numb from skating and wet from sliding down snowbanks in deep overshoe grooves, and many a howling victim of a frozen snowball.

Parkas, earmuffs, scarves, leggings, mittens galoshes, all would bulge closets as regular garb and the underclothing pre-

Baby Care Course Offered

The Atlanta Red Cross is offering a free course in "Mother and Baby Care and Family Health" to parents-to-be interested in learning the know-how of caring for their new addition to the stork set. Classes will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7 to 9 p. m. The course will last two weeks.

Miss Frances Sanchez, volunteer Red Cross nurse and nurse consultant in the maternal and child health program of the State Health Department, will teach the course. Parents will gain confidence and skill in handling, feeding, bathing and diapering their youngest heir by practicing on life-sized dolls using nursery equipment.

Classroom lectures, supplemented by films, will emphasize normal conditions to be expected before the baby is born and the proper care of the expectant mother, as well as preparation for the baby's birth and care of the new child. The course will also include emotional health, protection against disease, personal habits, family budget and home environment.

Parents interested in enrolling in this free Red Cross course may call Nursing Service, Atlanta Red Cross, AT. 1601.

Family Life Can Survive Night Work

By ANNE CAIN

It is possible to be happy though married to a swing-shift worker. Although it may mean realignment of a whole way of life, it may carry with it a big bonus: The family may get a new, life-size picture of that man who brings home his pay check, and father may find out that the cute little sleepy heads he tucks in at night are personalities he will be proud to know.

Probably the first step to take is to adjust the whole family's attitude. A great weight of responsibility rests on father, the source of all the trouble, for he must be able to get his rest, (almost inevitably when every one else wants to be on the move), yet he will not want to cramp the lives of all the other members of his family.

If father comes home from work in the morning, flings himself into bed determined to sleep, chances are excellent that he will lie there tense and fast, fighting every trickling sound from the street, the next room, and even the sounds that he expects to hear, and consequently, when time comes around to go back to work, will drag himself out, worn and unrested.

If, however, he can adopt the approach that one sleeps when one is tired, that eight hours' sleep consecutively are worth more than snatches caught by sheer determination, and that work and sleep must balance with the other third of his life, a sleep pattern can be formed which will give him rest, and allow the family to have a share of him also.

The family must realize that father is not a day-sleeper through some meanness of spirit, and a feeling of protectiveness for his well-being will strengthen ties of love and consideration.

Then, lay out a schedule. If father gets home in the middle of the night that should ideally be the time for him to go to sleep. Accordingly, he could spend the early part of the day with his family, taking part in the routine of the day in a way which ordinary families never get to experience. Children can get to know their fathers and share experiences and adventures, from building a fence, to going on fishing excursions, which the five o'clock fathers, who have their free time when the kiddies are asleep, must forfeit.

If the bread-winner rolls in at breakfast time, it will probably prove more satisfactory for him to postpone his sleeping period until later in the day. Children inevitably experience stimulation and excitement when a working parent comes home, and this natural exuberance, which would find difficulty in suppressing itself, will be tempered by afternoon, and the matter of providing quiet for sleep will be more easily accomplished.

TELEVISION-RADIO

Truck Crash, Love
On Circle TheaterBy HOWELL JONES
Punching for Paul Jones

Brother Paul, who usually occupies this space with his news and views of radio and television, is snowbound up north where he went to see an ice show, got a lot more than he bargained for, and missed a real jolt right here in Atlanta.

As a result, we'll take over and try to point out the best in audio-visual entertainment for Tuesday, while he sits around the station in Cincinnati waiting for the rail switches to thaw out so the trains can move.

First off, we'll point to the unusual love drama that will be presented on the Circle Theater at 9:30 p. m., on WSB-TV. An action-packed story about Steve, a hard-boiled highway transport driver who needs a wreck to show him he's in love with Thelma, a jittery waitress, "Anything But Love," co-stars Julie Hayden and Karl Malden. Thelma gets the perilous story under way by spilling water on Steve's head, touching off a battle that ends with a truck smashup and love.

Another topnotcher for Tuesday brings three great stars before the cameras on the Milton Berle Star Theater at 8 p. m., on WSB-TV. The guest roster includes the names of singing star Frank Sinatra, Georgia Gibbs and Lon Chaney, Jr., son of one of filmdom's greatest horror stars.

As usual, Berle will provide a generous helping of his own—and other people's—jokes and comedy routines.

Santa Claus, slightly maligned by brother Paul who Monday said the happy old gent was "getting to be a big fat joke" made a very good impression in a new daily show which premiered at 4:15 p. m., Monday on WSB-TV.

Appearing from his North Pole headquarters, Santa went through the fifteen minute show in a convincing manner, reading letters from the youngsters, bringing his address book up to date and showing some of the many toys his staff has built for Christmas delivery. He was assisted by Grumpy, his never-smiling aide.

The International Live Stock exposition, one of the biggest agricultural shows in the country, will be brought into Atlanta homes at 3 p. m., Tuesday via WSB-TV in a full-hour special edition of the "National Farm and Home Hour." The telecast will give viewers a ringside seat at the judging and selection of the world's most expensive beefsteak—the 1950 grand champion steer.

Sunshine Brand

BEANS WITH ACORN SQUASH
Cut squash in half, remove seeds and fibrous membrane. Season with salt, pepper, butter, cover and bake in moderate oven 30 minutes. Fill center with drained SUNSHINE beans, top with diced bacon and bake in oven 10 minutes.

Southern flavor in just 10 minutes!

GREEN BEANS

No stringing, no trimming, no laborious preparation. And SUNSHINE beans are so nearly like Southern garden-fresh beans that in only ten minutes you can have them on the table. They're different because they're picked as Southerners time them—picked when the flavor is at its peak, canned immediately.

Sunshine PIMIENTOS

Very few dishes with the most colorful and appetizing of garnishes—whole, rosy-red, fire-roasted SUNSHINE pimientos. They add color, vitamins and meat to salads, casseroles, soups, vegetables, andwiches.

MARY HAWORTH Bachelor A Puzzle To Divorcee

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have been going with Eldon for the past eight months. He is a bachelor, holds a good job and lives with his mother. He has stopped having birthdays, it seems; but judging by his appearance, he might be anywhere between 40 and 60 years of age. As for myself, I am a divorcee, 29, and have one child. I am very fond of Eldon but he is giving me a hard time. We enjoy each other's company and also enjoy the same type of recreation, but about every six weeks, Eldon confuses me by stating that I should go out with some nice chap, fall in love and marry again.

Later, however, he always contradicts himself by saying that if I ever go out with anyone else, he won't see me again. Twice we have stopped dating, parting in a spirit of friendship; but he returned after each "goodbye."

Eldon doesn't have any close friends and often says, "The more I see of people the better I like dogs." Can you understand why he likes me so well for a period of time, then turns against me regularly? I don't know whether to give up hope, or to persevere in seeing him. What do you advise?

DEAR F. C.: Where have you been these last 10 years, that you haven't picked up a smattering of academic or hearsay knowledge of the "Mom's Boy," enough to recognize the type, if by chance you get to know one in real life? Eldon is just such a fellow—the bachelor son who is perennially ineligible for marriage, due to his unweaned dependency upon his mother, a form of enslavement unconsciously contrived by her, as a form of insurance against being alone.

Poor Eldon is a frustrated soul; and association with less inhibited individuals merely accelerates his unconscious conflicts. That's why he says, or feels, that the more he sees of people the better he likes dogs. His problem is what to do with himself. But he hasn't faced it. You can't do anything for him; and if your major social aim is to marry again, you are losing ground in giving time to Eldon. If you resolutely throw him out, and adamantly refuse to

Wedding Bells

Duncan-Ballard

At an afternoon ceremony solemnized at the Cochran Baptist Church, Miss Ruth Ballard of Cochran was married to Thurman Elwell Duncan, of LaGrange, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Elrod, of Greenville, S. C. The bride's brother, the Rev. M. P. Webb of Valdosta, assisted by the Rev. Jason Shirah, officiated. Mrs. Robert Jackson Webb, of Carrollton, was her sister's matron of honor, and Larry E. Duncan, of Columbia, S. C., was his brother's best man. The bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Roberts, gave a reception at their home. After a wedding trip to Nassau, the couple will reside at 207 Broad St., LaGrange.

Hubbard-Song

The Hickam Air Force Base Chapel in Honolulu, Hawaii, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Ruth Young Hee Song, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Song of Honolulu, to Alfred J. Hubbard, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Hubbard, of Rockmart, Anthony V. Massimo was best man, and Miss Phoebe Won was maid of honor. After the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home on Mauna Loa Avenue, and the couple left for a tour of Wake, Okinawa, Iwo Jima and Formosa. They will reside in Honolulu where the bride is employed by the Bishop National Bank. She attended Los Angeles College. Mr. Hubbard has been in the Navy for two and a half years, and is a crewman in Air Transport Eight, attached to Military Transport Service.

Lord-Russell

The marriage of Miss Alice A. Russell, of Charleston, Ill., and James T. Lord, of Dudley, Ga., took place in the Methodist Church of Park Ridge, Ill., with Dr. Truman Carl officiating, according to announcement by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Russell, Mr. Russell gave his daughter in marriage, and the couple was attended by Mrs. Paul T. Hagen, her sister's matron of honor, and Joseph R. Lord, of Dudley, who was his brother's best man. A reception was held in the church parlors. The bride has been research assistant for the Farm Foundation in Washington and Chicago, while the groom is chief petty officer, U. S. Navy, aboard the USS Cadmus. After a tour of the South Mr. and Mrs. Lord will reside in Norfolk, Va., until the former is released from service.

Oglesby-Maddox

Miss Martha Jo Maddox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Maddox, became the bride of Raymond Oglesby, of Douglas and Atlanta, Friday at Capitol View Methodist Church, with Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben officiating. The bride wore a navy blue suit, navy accessories, and carried a white Bible topped with an orchid. Mrs. G. P. Mossie was her sister's matron of honor, and Otis Daniels, Jr., was best man. The couple will reside in Atlanta.

Pittman-Samples

Miss Ouida Samples, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis L. Samples, of Lyons, and Jake L. Pittman, son of Mrs. William L. Pittman, of Lyons, were married at the home of the Rev. James D. Rabun, who officiated. The couple will reside in Lyons.

unend, he might in distraction offer marriage to bribe his way back. But even so, it wouldn't work, unless his personality had been revised and reinforced throughout, to prepare him for adult teamwork on intimate terms. And I gather he's rather too old to submit to that.

Growing Child Has Urgings He Can't Curb

By GLADYS BEVANS

As soon as parents make up their minds to take children for what they are, they will find they have taken a big step forward.

If we are going to get along with our children with a minimum of conflict, and also help them to develop and adjust to the world of people and things, we must accept the fact that at various times in their lives they act the way they do because they HAVE to; because there are certain urges and activities, both physical and emotional, that HAVE to have outlet—that have to be expressed.

If we accept the validity, the reality of these impulses—then instead of bucking them, instead of putting the lid on, we'll find much smoother sailing. We shall still have necessary demands to make, routines to be accomplished, and conforming or obedience to be expected, but we'll go at it differently.

Examples always help. I think. We happen to have, right at hand here, three little boys around the age of six, who have learned to play together wonderfully well. They've had a big project on lately in the garage of one of them. With some huge boxlike blocks they've built a firetruck. After school and their after-lunch rest is over they foregather, and each takes his place. One drives the truck (oh joy!), one works the siren, and one the hose (I think).

When it was time for them to come in for their baths and supper one day, Peter's mother found he'd had an "accident." Bill's mother noticed a snuffle, and Hal's mother discovered a nasty scratch from a rusty nail. When each was questioned by his mother as to why he had come in (1) to go to the bathroom, (2) to get his extra jacket when called, and (3) to clean the blood and dirt off the scratch, the answers were first "a g u e," and then "But I COULDN'T come—I would have lost my place at the wheel (or the siren or the hose)."

You see, nothing else mattered! Of course their mothers will have to be intent and get results, but they'll do it with a different spirit and in a different way. If they understand the intensity of what I have sometimes labelled "that passionate pastime called 'play.'"

Acts AT ONCE to Relieve NIGHT COUGHING

(CAUSED BY COLDS)

For years thousands of doctors have prescribed PERTUSSIN. It acts at once not only to relieve coughing due to colds, but also to "loosen up" phlegm and make it easier to raise. Mothers are delighted with PERTUSSIN. It's entirely free from harmful ingredients of any kind. And kiddies love the pleasant taste! Inexpensive. All druggists.

Wash Candlesticks With Detergents

Wash those crystal candlesticks with their tinkling prisms by the drain-dry method. You'll have both time and tedious drying effort. The prisms will gleam and glisten magnificently. Make a lively suds, being sure to use lukewarm water. An all-purpose special detergent, does not react chemically with the water to make the "lime soap scum" which smears or streaks the crystal.

Set candlesticks on a drain board cushioned with a Turkish towel. Borrow the children's toy sprinkling can and "rain" tepid suds all over the crystal. Clean soiled crevices with a soft toothbrush.

Rinse by pouring clear lukewarm water over the crystal. Leave to drain dry.

Another Record PORK Supply...and it's coming your way!

Here's welcome news: More meat is available now and more is on the way!

For the second year in a row, one of the biggest fall and winter pork supplies is moving to market.

This increase in pork supplies will be spread over the next several months. It is big enough to mean an extra pound of meat a week for every family in the U.S. And bigger supplies mean a wide selection and good values when you shop.

Already truckers and railroaders are moving the porkers from farms to packing centers. In meat packing plants, skilled workmen are smoking more hams, curing more bacon and making more sausage. Your meat-man is keeping his counters filled with all your favorite pork cuts.

Now you can put an extra chop in the skillet, a bigger pork roast in the oven, bacon and sausage in more breakfasts.

Making the most of pork during these days of pork a-plenty is good budget planning. And remember, pork is a great value in good nutrition, too.

1. A year ago farmers decided whether to raise the same, more or fewer pigs. When 5,000,000 individual decisions were added up it amounted to a whopping 60,000,000 porkers for this fall and winter.

Defense Production Topic of Gathering

By BILL BOWLING

Hundreds of owners and operators of small Georgia industries were in Atlanta Monday for a briefing by government officials on how to get some of the defense business.

They represented almost every type of manufacturing. They demonstrated by their interrogations of the government officials that they are prepared to make a sizeable contribution to the nation's pool of defense materials.

And, indeed, they are. They are a strong, prolific group, bred by war and circumstances, young and hard-hitting. They have come into their own chiefly since 1939.

In that year, according to Clark Gaines, head of the Georgia Department of Commerce which sponsored Monday's meeting, Georgia's production of goods for the war stood at $1,150. These plants employed 158,000 persons. Today Georgia has 4,500 plants, employing 250,000 persons.

Little business, as such as Big, has been responsible for this gain. Little shirt and pants shops, food processing, industrial chemicals, plastics, meat packing plants—factories of every description scattered over rural Georgia.

More than 50 percent of all new Georgia businesses, according to a Georgia Power Co. survey, is now being established in towns of less than 10,000 population. The big industrial centers are still forging ahead, but the small communities are progressing too.

In food processing, Georgia is leading the nation in percentage gain and most of the plants are located in the smaller towns—close to the source of fruit, vegetable, meat and dairy supply.

In the northeastern section of the State, which used to concentrate chiefly on the production of granite and apple cider, with maybe some minor flour thrown in, is arising one of the country's great industrial areas. Woolens, textiles, furniture, plastics, garments, machinery and other products are made there today. In the process of market research sources, Bruce Bath, associate secretary of the Life Insurance Company of Georgia, has been elected president of the Southeastern Actuaries Club. Allen B. Dym Laboratories, Inc., will hold regional television distributor and sales meeting at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday at the Henry Grady Hotel. Among topics of discussion will be one pertaining to Atlanta TV problems. Air Express shipments in and out of Atlanta rose 35.8 percent from Nov. 1-15 as compared with the similar period in 1949. Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co. announces gross revenue for the 10 months of 1950 as $109,617,927 as compared with $102,031,461 for the same period of 1949. October revenues rose from $9,428,495 in 1949 to $11,213,504 in 1950. Per month production stock for the 10 months of 1950 as $11,135 for 1950 as against $8,556 for 1949. The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce annual meeting will be held at 6:30 p. m. Monday at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Business firms in Georgia may now file applications for federal loans for development of their operations to an extent whereby they can participate in the national defense program. Applications will be received at field offices of the U. S. Department of Commerce in Atlanta and Savannah. Chrysler's Plymouth Division probably will wind up its 1950 model run this week with a total for the year close to 550,000 units, about the same as the total for the same period last year despite three months idleness because of labor trouble. The storm that delayed the weekly production estimates of the American Iron and Steel Institute. The Investment Bankers Association of America, meeting in Hollywood, Fla., plans amendments to the "Blue Sky" laws of Georgia and several other states. John L. Wetzel, methods supervisor in the general office of Southern Bell, here observed his 40th year in the firm Monday. Robert W. Koch, Atlanta representative for Gould Brown & Sumney, Inc., will address the regular meeting of the Atlanta Control of the Controllers Institute at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Joseph M. Bowman has been appointed Service Manager of the Atlanta branch of Burroughs Adding Machine Co. Miss Kate Leighton, home lighting specialist of General Electric Co., Cleveland, O., addressed the Atlanta Residence Lighting Forum Monday night. Dr. William B. Dickinson of Atlanta, an Emory graduate, has joined the organic chemistry staff of the Sterling-Winthrop Research Institute, New York City.

Four Contracts Let

Four Georgia firms were among those of the Southeast receiving $5,000,000 in Federal contracts during the first half of November, according to Merrill C. Lofton, regional director of the U. S. Department of Commerce. Top contract award of the seven-state area went to Peeries Woolen Mills, Rossville, for 450,000 linear yards of woolen lining for $1,120,500. The New York Quartermaster Procurement Agency made the purchase. Atlanta Paper Co. drew a $113,391 contract for 669,000 paper boxes. Riverside Mills, Augusta, sold 105,000 pounds of white waste at a contract price of $32,707. Golden City Hosiery Mills, Villa Rica, was awarded a contract to furnish 120,000 pairs of white cotton socks at a price of $31,176.

Business Briefs

American Mutual Liability Insurance Co. of Boston announces the appointment of Frank S. Young, former resident vice president and Southern Division sales manager, to the newly created position in the home office of service manager on industrial lines. He will be succeeded here by M. Paul McQueen, former resident secretary of the Tennessee District and The Atlanta Constitution and The Atlanta Journal. Both The Atlanta Constitution and The Atlanta Journal have been cited by the U. S. Department of Commerce as outstanding market research sources. Bruce Bath, associate secretary of the Life Insurance Company of Georgia, has been elected president of the Southeastern Actuaries Club. Allen B. Egg Prices Down

Cold weather upsets chicken very much, causing them to slow down on egg production. As a result, and because egg men don't like to get out in cold weather, the egg supply in the Atlanta market hit the skids Monday. This caused the usual price slump for this time of the year to misfire, and egg prices continued strong—67 cents for large grade A and 60 cents for mediums at wholesale. There's still no sign of any decided drop in the egg price in the market here, although there is a possibility of lower prices next year as a result of the Government's decision to discontinue its egg price support program effective Dec. 31. On the heels of this announcement, however, the Government announced a conference for discussing a possible substitute for the price support program.

Electrical Output High

The Georgia farm wife is as responsible as anyone else for a steadily rising output of electricity in the State, according to Georgia Power Co. authorities. New household appliances—washing machines, refrigerators, hot water heaters, television—she is constantly acquiring rank with the industrial machines as top users of electricity. Georgia Power Co. authorities say new electrical output records are being established in the State almost weekly. This year will go down as Georgia's all-time record year in electric output.

Paint Prices Up

Three large paint companies have announced price increases. Sherwin-Williams announced an increase covering practically its full line, averaging about 3 1/2 percent. The Glidden Company announced increases, effective Dec. 1, averaging 3 1/2 percent. Raynolds announced advances in house paint of 15 cents a gallon and in interior paints of 10 cents a gallon. Rising costs of materials are blamed.

Dorsey Promoted

Jasper N. Dorsey's appointment as division staff assistant on the Georgia manager's staff of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company was announced Monday by Lane Hubbard, Georgia manager. Before promotion, Dorsey was supervisor in the Atlanta District of the Company. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia, Commissioner of the Marietta Housing Authority, a deacon in First Presbyterian Church, Marietta, and a member of the Atlanta Optimist Club.

Burrows Optimistic

No material decrease in the volume of household equipment production during the first half of 1951 is expected by C. L. Burrows, vice president of the Coleman Co., Inc., Wichita, Kan. Burrows, who addressed a group of Southern wholesale distributors

Worry of FALSE TEETH

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, wear false teeth a little FASTEETH on your plate. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable degree of added security and confidence. Holding plates more firmly. No gum, sticky taste or feeling. It's a little (non-sticky). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

War News Spurs Grains Advance

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A rise in grain prices was spurred by war news from Korea. The market advanced a few cents from its peak. From there it moved to the close, ending with a firm tone above Saturday's close on rather slow trading.

of PHILCO Research
in a TV
Combination...

PHILCO True-Focus

No Blur!
No Smear!

17-Inch Rectangular Picture

It's the sensation of the television world... Balanced Beam, an exclusive Philco development that achieves for the first time TRUE-FOCUS over the entire viewing area. No blur at the edges! No smear in the center! And it's BIG... a full 150 square inches on a 17-inch rectangular tube. Yes, the truest picture ever seen on any television screen!

Plays All Records, All Sizes, All Speeds
... up to 5 Hours of Continuous Music!

Plays the new "LP's", the new "45's" as well as standard records, all with one changer, one tone arm... and with the finest tone ever achieved in recorded music. It's another Philco development... compare the tone and your ears will tell you, "There's no tone like Philco tone!" A rich-voiced radio, too, gives you complete home entertainment.
